Georgia Bible College Mourns Flood Dead

Torrents Of Water Kill 37 When Dam Breaks

By JACK STILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP) — The campus of a small, northeastern Georgia college lay in ruins after an earthen dam broke and sent torrents of water rushing through the sleeping community of Toccoa.

At least 37 persons, including 20 children, were killed in flooding that followed the dam break Sunday morning. Two others were reported missing.

"I believe that sometimes God allows Satan to do things, hoping to discourage us, and we are tested in that way," said Bob Harner of Ravenna, Ohio, who gathered with other mourners for a candlelight service on the ravaged Toccoa Falls Bible College campus. His wife and 2-year-old son died in the flood.

Gov. George Busbee inspected the damage and said later that the dam that broke above Toccoa Falls was one of 84 such earthen embankments in Georgia that had been declared high-hazard dams by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The hazard designation does not mean the dams are structurally unsafe but that if they broke, damage would be significant, a corps spokesman said.

Busbee said federal and state inspections were being made of other dams in northern Georgia to prevent another disaster.

First lady Rosalynn Carter, a Georgia native, flew to the community from Washington Sunday. She told Toccoa's 9,000 residents and the Bible College students that President Carter had promised federal assistance.

Crews worked into the night searching for victims and cleaning up debris. The community was without electricity or natural gas service because of damage to major distribution lines. Water was scarce, some of it carried into the city by neighboring residents. Officials said they expected the college to remain closed for at least a week.

Weakened by two days of heavy rain, the dam — which held back tons of water in an 80-acre lake above the scenic Toccoa Falls — gave way about 1:30 a.m.

The water picked up speed as it dropped over the 188-foot falls and smashed into the valley, demolishing or severely damaging at least a dozen houses and some 15 mobile homes. Most of the damage occurred in the low-lying campus housing area.

Three volunteer firemen also were killed. They were in the area to warn residents that a creek meandering through campus was near flood stage.

"There was this awful screaming and the ripping of metal," said Bill Stacy, 19, who lived in a mobile home with his parents. Two brothers and a sister. "It is a miracle, but we all got out, and my parents helped hunt for the bodies later."

The dam, built by the college about 1940, was last inspected three days ago, said Bible College president Kenn Opperman. He did not say who conducted the inspection.

Opperman said the only previous problem in his four years in office occurred about a year ago, when water spilled over the dam and caused some $100,000 damage, mostly to roads and land.

Mayor Roy Gaines said three of the city's four water mains had been damaged by the rampaging water. He urged residents to conserve water. People from outlying areas brought plastic jugs filled with water from their wells into Toccoa for distribution.

Busbee urged Carter on Sunday night to issue a disaster declaration for the area, saying that problems were "beyond the capability of the state and local governments to alleviate.

The college, established in 1907, had about 450 students living on campus. Another 100 commuted to classes. The faculty numbered about 50.

About 250 students lived in the campus area along Toccoa Creek, fed by water from the falls.

Flood waters swept through the lower floor of the four-story men's dormitory, killing several of the 40 residents. The waters were described as "blowing out the windows" by one survivor.

Rescue workers said bodies had been washed as far as five miles downstream of the falls.

SJ Student Dies After Gym Mishap

Funeral services were held this morning for Timothy Spittler, 14, a ninth grader at St. Joseph High School, who died at 11:15 a.m. Saturday at Memorial Hospital. His death was attributed to injuries reported sustained Thursday night in a fall from a ladder in the high school's auxiliary gymnasium.

The Dey-Florin Funeral Home, St. Joseph, said Kazuo Ugalin, M.D., listed the cause of death as a cerebral contusion.

High School Principal Richard Higgs said the accident occurred about 6:40 p.m. Thursday. Higgs said the gymnasium was closed at the time, and the lights were out. Higgs gave this account:

"Timothy and another ninth grader, Mark Kuntz, 14, moved the 20 to 25-foot ladder from a storage area of the gymnasium where it was folded up to the floor. They raised the ladder, and Timothy climbed to the top to shoot basketballs downward into a basketball net. Higgs described the ladder as vertical locking type on four wheels and used to change light bulbs in the gymnasium.

Higgs said Timothy somehow slipped from the top of the ladder and fell to the floor. Higgs said Mark Kuntz reported Timothy shouted, "I'm falling." Mark ran to summon a night custodian, who phoned Assistant Principal George Waning.

Higgs said Waning found Timothy on the gymnasium floor and phoned for an ambulance.

According to Higgs, Timothy and Mark were let into the gymnasium from the inside by another boy, who has not been identified. Higgs said the boy inside apparently left when Timothy and Mark entered. It's not known how the unidentified boy got into the gymnasium. Higgs said doors to the gymnasium were locked and could

Lombardo Dies; Band Keeps Playing

NEW YORK (AP) — Guy Lombardo, who made millions and delighted millions for half a century with his "sweetest music this side of heaven," will be buried Wednesday.

But Lombardo's brother, Victor, promised that their band, the Royal Canadians, will go on and that the time most closely associated with the famous bandleader — "Auld Lang Syne" — will be heard again Dec. 31.

Guy Lombardo died at age 75 Saturday night at Houston's Methodist Hospital, where he had undergone heart surgery in September. His wife of 51 years, Lillibelle, was at his side.

Hospital spokesmen said death was not related to the surgery but to a breathing problem that developed later and forced Lombardo's rehospitalization Oct. 27.

The bandleader is to be buried in the Long Island community of Farmingdale on Wednesday.

Lombardo was a resident of the Long Island community of Freeport, where he owned a restaurant. He also promoted summer spectaculars at Jones Beach. His revival of "Finian's Rainbow" there last summer grossed $1.55 million.

Victor, the youngest Lombardo brother, said the Royal Canadians would stop work

Wednesday to attend the funeral, but that the band would be touring Connecticut on Thursday as "Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians."

Guy Lombardo was an intense worker who began new ventures on stage when many others would think of retirement.

In 1909, 40 years after he first ushered in a new year for a national radio audience, Lombardo took his band to New York for its first appearance at the prestigious Carnegie Hall.

He said he got in the habit of ending each program with "Auld Lang Syne" — a practice copied by many other bandleaders in the days of big swing bands — because he started out with his first orchestra in western Ontario, which was "heavily Scottish."

The bandleader was born Gaetano Lombardo Jr., son of an immigrant Italian tailor, in London, Ontario, and was only 12 when he formed his first band with four other youngsters, including his brothers Carmen and Robert.

The Lombardo brothers went to Cleveland in 1925. In 1927 they moved the band to Chicago.

In an era when jazz history was being made in the Windy City by Louis Armstrong, Big Biederbecke and the like, Lombardo managed to become successful with his light, straight-melody music because it suited the dancing style of middle America.

Among the songs he made famous and profitable were "Little White Lies," "Don't You," "You're Driving Me Crazy" and "Seems Like Old Times."

Lombardo once said of his success against the musical tides that "we lose 'em in their teens, but we catch 'em up later ... and when we get 'em we keep 'em."

Redheaded Females Aggressive?

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Redheads, who have long been labeled fiery-tempered, now may have a new stereotype to live down.

According to a survey of 200 Utah college students, red-haired women are regarded as powerful while their male counterparts are seen as timid.

"The red-haired female is perceived as the executive or professional type, not very feminine and slightly aggressive," said Dennis Clayton, an assistant professor of psychology at Mount Union College, who surveyed students from Brigham Young University and Utah Technical College.

However, he added: "The red-haired male is seen as a timid, feminine, Bozo-the-clown type character."

The same sex differential didn't apply to findings on persons with other hair colors.

Violent Resolution Of A Family Problem

Anyone connected with the legal system or a variety of social agencies is aware of wife and child beating being a widespread syndrome in our society.

There is nothing new about it, whether in the U.S. or elsewhere in the world, and people being what they are the prospect of this phase in marital discord being brought under control is a long range curative process.

Last week a jury in an Ingham County Circuit court voted in favor of a young woman who resorted to murder as the solution to a life of physical and mental duress at the hands of a husband who if not outright psychotic was likely but a shade removed from it.

Francine and James Hughes, 30 and 31 respectively, were married in their early teens.

The marriage was tempestuous from the outset and culminated in a divorce six years ago.

Following the divorce and for reasons never fully explained at the murder trial they resumed living together.

So did the beatings and other forms of physical abuse continue on the husband's part.

Last March 9, Francine, following a vicious attack by James, poured gasoline under the bed in which he was sleeping and dropped a lighter match upon the fuel.

The ensuing explosion and fire sent James to his final reward in a matter of minutes.

Francine had removed their children from the cottage before creating the funeral pyre for James.

The circumstances were such to convince the authorities the fire was a planned mishap and they arrested Francine on a first degree murder charge.

The trial drew national attention from a wide variety of women's organizations choosing to symbolize Francine as a test case for women submerged in domestic violence.

Her attorney convinced the jury of 10 women and two men his client had reached the end of the rope, that when she prepared the death bed for her husband she no longer could distinguish between right and wrong by reason of his constant, lengthy abuse of her.

The jury rejected the effort by the prosecution to show the homicide was a premeditated act motivated by Francine's attachment to another man.

Since the prosecution can not appeal the jury's decision, the verdict is far from being a clearcut sign post in the law.

By electing the insanity defense, Francine's lawyer skirted the legal pitfall of trying to convince the jury and the presiding judge that a planned homicide against an aggressor is tantamount to the instantaneous, reactive assault by a victim against an assailant which the law holds to be the essence of a self-defense plea.

Consequently while Francine's attorney labels the verdict as landmark decision, a number of the feminists supporting her cause expressed disappointment in the jury's refusal to rest its verdict upon a conclusion of homicide justified by self-defense.

The presiding judge whose post trial comments displayed obvious agreement with the outcome of the trial did make note of the self-defense issue not being met head on.

Consequently, the acquittal has to be read as the jury's belief that Francine became caught in a circumstantial web beyond her comprehension to free herself by more conventional, less violent means.

In a hasty poll taken among five of our female employees, only one of whom is single, four expressed a qualified approval of the jury's decision. The fifth said something has to be wrong with a woman going back to living with a man for six years following a divorce based upon the husband's long record of prior abuse.

The facts in People vs. Hughes support the sympathy verdict from the jury and our office majority.

The implication from the jury's finding is more bothersome.

There is the threat that spouses trapped in less aggravated circumstances might be tempted to solve their dilemmas as Francine met hers.

The other side to wife beating is the husband with a virago of a wife.

If it is fitting for the victim of wife-beating to employ the ultimate force, then it is equally proper for a shrew's mate to resort to the same conduct.

People vs. Hughes dramatizes the trauma of wife and child abuse.

It does not, however, offer a solution.

Federal Tax Checkoffs May Be First Of Many

Was the inclusion on federal income tax forms of a place to check off a contribution from taxes to finance political campaigns only the first of more to come? A couple of members of Congress seem to think so. They have introduced a bill which would permit a similar checkoff to provide federal contributions to the National Endowments of the Arts and the Humanities.

About $170 million annually now is contributed to these two endowments by the federal government. One sponsor of the bill estimates this could rise to $1.8 billion a year if the measure is passed.

The subject is one which will pull much support. Many of the arts, as wide supported as they are today, traditionally have a funding problem. Whether the subject is a dramatic presentation, concert, ballet or other artistic endeavor, it costs money.

In a large number of cases it is necessary to raise funds outside of the principal forum to keep ticket prices from discouraging attendance. The sum of $1.8 billion would go far toward underwriting these costs.

Two questions have to be asked: What would happen to private fund raising activities in behalf of the arts if the federal government underwrote the endowments in a super-big way? What inducement would another checkoff on the income tax return provide for other worthwhile causes, cancer research, to name one, to request the same privilege?

It is by such good intentions multiplied many times that the federal budget and deficit have reached escalating growth.

SECRETARIES ASK PUBLIC'S HELP

Editor,

The secretaries of Benton Harbor school district have been negotiating since April with the school board for a contract. We have come to the negotiating table prepared at every session to bargain in good faith with the attorney appointed by the board to do the job which a highly paid administrator is quite capable of doing. Since April this attorney and his partner have been paid over $30,000.00 to drive from Kalamazoo to Benton Harbor to negotiate with the organized groups of the school district. The personnel director has received his salary of $26,500.00 for just sitting at the table.

At the time of consolidation in 1905 we were an unorganized group of secretaries with varying pay schedules and fringe benefits from our respective schools. When we asked to bargain with the board for working conditions, salaries, etc., we were told that since we were unorganized that they would not bargain with us. After a year and a half getting organized into an association, we finally sat down at the table, and in 1908 came out with our first contract, lasting until 1971. Bargaining each contract after that was in-ways a challenge, sometimes frustrating, but each time we had give and take with the board's representatives and came out with a feeling of accomplishment and good will toward all.

This April when negotiations were open, we were handed a brand new contract which negated everything that we had worked so hard to achieve over the past years. And it was apparent from the first that the attorney would not bargain. "No" was the response to all efforts on the part of the association to bargain. A state mediator has been called in to help on two occasions, but still no bargaining. Stalemate.

Please, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, we need your support. Remember, it is the secretary who takes your messages and delivers them to your child. We put the Band-Aids on, we call you when your child becomes sick in school, we do the PTA work in the office, stay with your child when you are late picking them up on a rainy or snowy day, we know you, our community, and likely the brothers and sister that went through your school, too. Now, we need your help. Let your friends and neighbors know, call your school board members, write the newspaper, ask that the board please come to the table and bargain with us in good faith and let us get on with the business of educating children.

QUESTIONS RIVER VALLEY BUILDING COSTS

Editor,

November 14th. "It's the day of decisions." Are we ready to go ahead with the building of the middle school in River Valley? Is it needed now, after the school board finally decided renovations and additions to all three schools? Three Oaks, New Troy and Chikaming? With River Valley high school and the new middle school to be built, (maybe) that makes five schools.

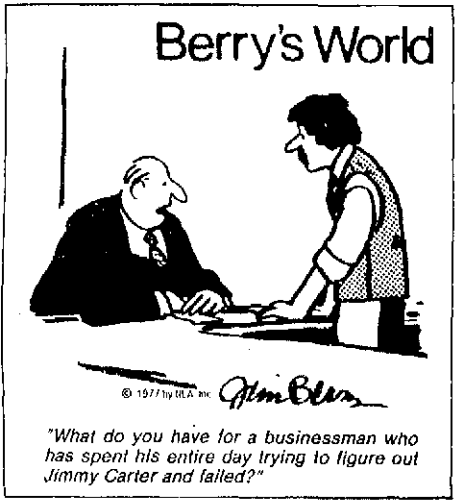

As I understand it from the news media, RV school budget is close to $1 million a year. The middle school will run to $3 million, then renovation and addition to the other three schools. "Let's think about it." And the heating of five schools and busing the children from one place to the other, what that will cost in dollars.

The build-up in recreation for the children today is "fantastic." It seems to be more important than getting good grades. Eighty per cent of our taxes goes to our schools now and with $3-4 million added it will show up on our tax bills, "no kidding."

As we old-timers had all we can do keeping away from being charity cases, we are also faced with sanitary sewers being installed in our streets, which will run into big money. A lot of people can't afford it, and we are worried. We need a good lesson in economy. Maybe another depression can help us get on the right track. "Heaven forbid," one is enough in a lifetime. But we ought to help our country get back on its feet, with our national debts running into $5-6 billions, it's scary. The schools closed in Toledo, Ohio, no money, it could happen here, too.

Either way you vote, be sure to vote.

FDA's Great Boat-Rocker

WASHINGTON — When Stanford University biologist Donald Kennedy agreed last spring to become commissioner of the beleaguered Food and Drug Administration, his friends in the health field thought he had shipped a cork.

Taking on the FDA job, they warned, was akin to accepting the captaincy of the Titanic.

With the possible exception of OSHA, the Occupational Health and Safety Administration of the Labor Department, there wasn't an agency in the federal government with a worse reputation.

Kennedy's friends needn't have worried, it is now apparent. The new FDA commissioner has turned out to be one of the greatest boat-rockers to hit Washington in years, but there is no sign his ship is sinking.

On the contrary, under Kennedy's leadership, the FDA has suddenly seized an unexpectedly major role in the formulation of health policy in the Carter administration.

And that development is rapidly giving both the medical profession and the multibillion dollar pharmaceutical industry an Excedrin headache.

Kennedy and his boss, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., are launching a drive for the first major revision of U.S. drug laws since 1962 — and there is good reason to believe they will succeed.

The groundwork for such an overhaul has already been established on Capitol Hill by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate's health subcommittee, and to a lesser extent, by his House counterpart, Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla.

For nearly four years, Sen. Kennedy has been holding hearings that pinpointed inadequacies in FDA's current procedures for testing and approving new drugs, and for reviewing the safety and efficacy of drugs already on the market.

When Congress returns in January, the Kennedy subcom-

Public TV Short Of Expectations

WASHINGTON — It will be ten years next week since the federal government first pledged funds to help support national public television and radio.

Since then, public broadcasting has grown — but it has not flourished. Even its most ardent supporters concede that it has fallen far short of its potential.

The system has suffered from financial instability, hostility from the Nixon administration, complaints of elitism and bias in favor of radical cultural and political concepts, too much reliance upon British productions, widely varying programming quality, internal quarrelling and mismanagement, and poor technical reception on about half of the home TV sets.

Last March, an A.C. Nielsen survey indicated that 42.8 million households turned to public broadcasting, but only for an average of 7.6 hours out of the four-week period. More than 72 million households have at least one television set.

"It has been a disappointment to everybody," Nicholas Johnson, a former FCC chairman who is now head of the National Citizens Communication Commission, sighed. "It ought to be pulling in one-half of the viewing audience every night."

Although more and more taxpayers' funds have poured into public broadcasting, financing remains a major problem. The original federal commitment was for $5 million; this year's contribution is $103 million in matching funds, to be provided on the basis of $1 for every $2.50 raised by the local stations in their states and communities.

That sounds like a great deal of money, but it is a pitifully small amount compared to the billions available to the commercial networks annually. In addition, public broadcasting has failed to make the most of what little it has — of the $101 million in federal matching funds, only $17 million has been devoted directly to national programming. The lion's share has gone for bureaucratic costs.

Despite its problems, however, public television still offers the best opportunity for excellence and variety in programming, free of the need to please advertisers and play the ratings game. So nobody is giving up on the noble experiment yet.

President Carter sent to Congress last month a request for $1 billion over a five-year period for public broadcasting, plus changes in the structure of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting board and elimination of its power to decide on individual programs. The measure is intended to encourage programming decisions at the local level and limit opportunities for political interference at the federal level.

The Corporation for Public Broadcasting itself, conceding "significant shortcomings," recently asked the Carnegie Corporation to undertake a special study of the system in light of past difficulties, future needs and new technology. President Carter has promised to take the Carnegie recommendations into consideration in setting future funding levels, implying that he may eventually support further increases in federal financing.

NAACP ATTORNEY TELLS LOCAL GROUP 'We Want Total Desegregation'

BY RALPH LUTZ

Staff Writer

A national NAACP attorney said here Saturday that a desegregation suit against Benton Harbor Area Schools is based on the organization's belief that segregation is as great a problem in the North as in the South.

"What we want is total desegregation — that's all we want," said James L. Hardiman of Cleveland, Ohio, legal counsel for the Cleveland schools desegregation suit.

Hardiman was guest speaker at the Twin City Area Branch NAACP Freedom Fund dinner, attended by about 100 people at Howard Johnson's, Sodus Township. Freedom Fund dinners are held annually over the nation as fund raisers for NAACP legal projects.

Benton Harbor Area Schools in August was found guilty of illegal desegregation during the first of a two-part trial before U.S. District Judge Noel Fox. The second part, including other school districts, citizen groups and state officials, is underway now.

Tracing the history of civil rights landmarks, Hardiman said blacks have made advances since the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Hardiman quickly added that since then, "We've looked around to see that segregation is as great a problem in the North as in the South. And, it's more effective, because it's more subtle."

Hardiman said the NAACP followed through with school suits in various cities — Detroit, Boston, and Indianapolis, as well as Cleveland and Benton Harbor.

Hardiman said at first boards of education seemed to have honest defenses — "no control over problems" of segregation that allegedly existed.

Hardiman said "a hard look at schools showed that boards of education drew boundary lines around black neighborhoods to make children go to school there, creating black schools." Hardiman also claimed that when schools hired black teachers, they were placed in predominantly black schools.

As to the school suits, Hardiman said boards of education seemed to be able to hire "high-priced lawyers." Hardiman added that NAACP lawyers, backed by donations, have done very well in the cases.

The attention of the NAACP currently is focused on a case now before the U.S. Supreme Court — Bakke versus Regents. Hardiman said the outcome is of vital importance to the future of the civil rights movement.

Allan Bakke, a white male, is accusing the University of California of "reverse discrimination."

Hardiman said Bakke was denied admission to the Davis campus medical school. He claimed he scored higher on entrance examinations than some successful applicants in a program that reserved 16 of 100 openings for ethnic minority groups.

Hardiman said if the Supreme Court upholds Bakke, the decision will have mark a major setback for civil rights. Hardiman termed the decision as important as the 1954 decision in the case of Brown versus the Topeka, Kansas Board of Education. This decision legally ended the concept that separate, but equal facilities are permissible under the Constitution, Hardiman said.

The separate, but equal, concept was established in 1896 in the Plessy versus Ferguson case. Hardiman said this case originated when Plessy refused to get off a railroad car for whites in New Orleans and was arrested. He went before a magistrate named Ferguson and later sued. The case went to the Supreme Court.

To Hardiman, the need for Freedom Fund dinners will continue for a long time. Hardiman said blacks comprise about 11 per cent of the nation's population. He added that nationwide, blacks comprise only about 3 per cent of the doctors and 2 per cent of the lawyers.

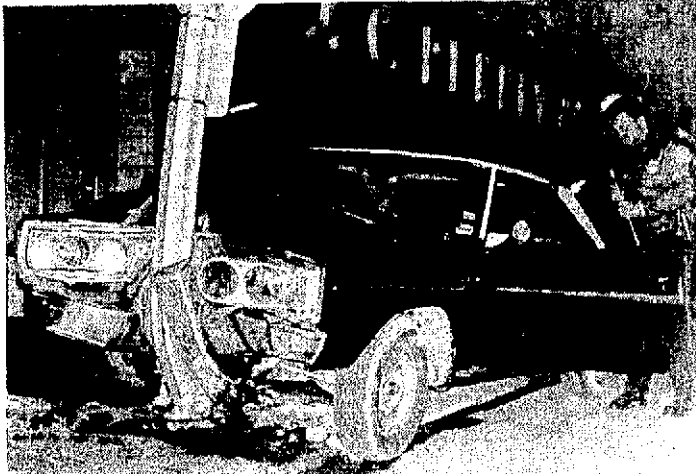

Hardiman said besides school desegregation, the NAACP is especially interested in affirmative action for jobs, and in improving police conduct in black communities.

Introduced were Mildred Wells, candidate for reelection to the Benton Harbor City Commission, and Joshua Ince, Democratic candidate for next year's election to the 44th District State House of Representatives seat.

Present also was Carl L. Breeding of Jackson, president, Michigan State Conference of NAACP Branches.

Mary DeFoe, local branch president, read messages from Benjamin L. Hooks, new executive director of the National NAACP, and Roy Wilkins, retired executive director.

The Rev. Donald Atkins, Second Baptist Church, was master of ceremonies.

I-94 Pedestrian Hit By Two Cars, Killed In Benton

A 34-year-old Berrien County woman whose auto may have broken down was killed last night when she was struck by two cars in rapid succession while walking across I-94 in Benton Township.

Benton Township police said Myrtle Pauline Cook was dead at the scene of the 10:43 p.m. accident on eastbound I-94 one-quarter mile south of Territorial Road.

Patrolmen Kim Fowler and Tom Street reported Mrs. Cook's 1969 Pontiac LeMans was found parked near the accident scene with the hood raised and flashing emergency lights in operation. Officers theorized the woman left her auto after experiencing mechanical problems.

Fowler and Street said Mrs. Cook was apparently crossing from the freeway median toward her auto parked on the east shoulder of the road when she was struck in the center of three traffic lanes.

Mrs. Cook was struck first by a car driven by Michael D. Willett, 18, of Tenth Avenue, South Haven, according to Fowler and Street.

The officers said the woman was struck by the front of the Willett car and was thrown over the hood, shattering the auto's windshield before falling to the pavement.

The woman's body was then

MYRTLE COOK
Car Parked Nearby

struck by a second car driven by Michael S. Warren, 18, of 6300 Hagar Shore Road, Hagar Township, according to police, and was dragged 100 feet.

An unidentified semi-truck passed over the body without striking it as the body laid in the right traffic lane after falling free of the Warren car, police reported. Police said Willett told them Mrs. Cook stepped into the path of his vehicle without looking and he was unable to avoid striking her.

Warren said he was unable to avoid an object he saw lying in the road because of heavy traffic, according to police.

Police reported both drivers said they were traveling about 55 miles per hour at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Cook was transported to Mercy Hospital where she was pronounced dead by Dr. P. Allen Kennedy. Police said an autopsy is scheduled to be performed today.

Results of the medical examination and police investigation will be turned over to the Berrien County prosecutor's office for review, according to officers.

Police reported Mrs. Cook had recently moved to a Berrien Springs apartment from First Street in Riverside. They were unable to report her latest address.

Police said they had been unable to determine if Mrs. Cook's car had broken down before the accident because the auto's battery had apparently gone dead after she pulled off the road.

Mrs. Cook's death is the 25th traffic fatality on Berrien County roads thus far in 1977. On this date in 1976, 31 people had lost their lives in county traffic accidents.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this morning at Davidson Chapel, Florin Funeral Service, Coloma.

Myrtle Cook was born Aug. 27, 1943, in Florence, Ala.

Survivors include a son, Steve, at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Eaton, Riverside; her grandmother, Mrs. Laura Cummings, Riverside; a brother, Carl Eaton, Riverside; and two sisters, Tina and Sarah Eaton, both of Riverside.

Mercy Names Vice Presidents

Four Mercy Hospital executives have been promoted to hospital vice presidencies, according to C.T. Loftis, executive vice president of Mercy and the Southwestern Michigan Health Care Association.

Promoted were Helen Plezia, Verlin N. Harder, A.W. Chipman and Michael Kastner.

Miss Plezia, former director of nursing, has been named vice president for nursing services. She has been with Mercy since 1953. A registered nurse, Miss Plezia has a bachelor of science degree in nursing from Villanova University and a master's degree in hospital administration from St. Louis University.

Harder has been controller since 1965 and has been named vice president for financial services. Before joining the Mercy Hospital staff, he worked at Evanston (Ill.) Hospital and the Wesley Medical Center in Wichita, Kan. Harder, a graduate in accounting from Bethel College, Newton, Kan., is president-elect of the Western Michigan chapter of the Hospital Financial Management Association.

Chipman has been named vice president for professional services. He joined Mercy in 1967 and was assistant hospital administrator before this promotion. He has had a long career in hospital administration, including several years as business manager and assistant administrator at Munson Medical Center, Traverse City, and administrator at Alpena (Mich.) General Hospital.

Kastner, former director of technical services, is the new vice president for general services. He came to Mercy in 1969 from St. Mary's Hospital in Kankakee, Ill., where he was director of purchasing. He is a charter member of the Twin Cities Area Meals on Wheels Board and is its vice president. He is a member of the board of the Hospital Purchasing Service of Michigan.

BH Commission Seats

To Be Filled Tuesday

Four seats on the Benton Harbor City Commission will be filled by voters during Tuesday's election.

Voters will ballot on four candidates for two commissioner-at-large seats, two announced candidates for 4th Ward commissioner, and an uncontested race for 3rd Ward commissioner. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the city's regular 10 precincts.

Running for the two commissioner-at-large seats are incumbents Arnold Bohn and Mildred Wells. Opposing them, and running as a team, are former Commissioner Carl L. Brown and political newcomer Audrey Reed.

Janita Echols is the only candidate who filed nominating petitions for the 4th Ward seat. Incumbent Alfred Williams announced recently he will wage a write-in campaign to retain his 4th Ward seat.

Incumbent Michael Givatus is unopposed for 3rd Ward commissioner. Also up for election are four city ward supervisors and the constable's post. The supervisors will be elected solely by write-in votes because no candidates filed for any of the positions. Supervisor candidates must receive write-in votes from the ward in which they live.

Incumbent constable Richard Garlander is unopposed for reelection.

Mrs. Wells today denied opposition charges that she faces a conflict of interest because her son Milton is director of operations for the recreation board.

She said that he was hired by the board of recreation, which is composed of representatives from the county, city and school district and that as city commissioner she has no jurisdiction over that board.

In a related election matter, the Southwestern Michigan Baptist Ministers Alliance today endorsed Bohn and Brown for the commissioner-at-large seats.

The endorsements by the Alliance were signed by the Rev. Elbert Brown, president, and the Rev. Michael Shane, corresponding secretary.

Polling places are: First Ward — first precinct, Calvin Britain School; second precinct, senior high school. Second Ward — first precinct, Benton Harbor Junior High; second precinct, Lake Michigan Catholic Middle School; third precinct, Columbus School.

Third Ward — first precinct, city hall; second precinct, Seely McCard School; third precinct, Sterne Brunson School.

Fourth Ward — first precinct, Naval Armory; second precinct, Marton School.

Quintet To Perform

HOLLAND — Music for a While, a quintet that specializes in Medieval and Renaissance chamber repertoires, will be featured as the third event of the 1977-78 Holland Great Performance Series Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m. in Dismant Memorial Chapel on the campus of Hope College.

The series is co-sponsored by the Holland Concert Association and the Hope College Cultural Affairs Committee.

Holland has reciprocal agreements with concert associations in the communities of Benton Harbor-St. Joseph, Muskegon and LaPorte, Ind.

Single admission tickets at $4 will be sold on availability 15 minutes prior to the performance.

Formed in 1970 to present the Medieval and Renaissance chamber repertoires to a rapidly-growing audience, Music for a While has established itself as a permanent fixture on the current musical scene.

Its members, LaNoue Davenport, Judith Davidoff, Sheila

Schonbrun, Steven Silverstein and Stanley Charkey, are all recognized members of this idiom, the first three as long-time members of New York Pro Musica before the formation of Music for a While.

They are all noted, as well, as master teachers in their various specialties, and are currently artists-in-residence at Sarah Lawrence College, serving as faculty for a program leading to the master of fine arts degree in performance of early music.

The group also teaches and performs at the Center for World Music in Berkeley.

Davenport has been engaged exclusively in the study and performance of Medieval and Renaissance music since 1949.

An original member of the New York Pro Musica, he has long been known for his versatility on the wind instruments of these periods, particularly the recorder.

Miss Davidoff has had a distinguished career in chamber music both as violist da gamba and cellist. In medieval repertoire she specializes in early wooded instruments such as the rebec, vielle and Turkish fiddle.

Soprano Sheila Schonbrun, as a member of the New York Pro Musica, contributed outstanding performances as the Queen in "The Play of Daniel," originated the role of Rachel in "The Play of Herod," and was acclaimed as both soloist and ensemble singer. She performs a great deal of contemporary music as well as music of the 18th and 19th centuries, and is also a student of non-Western singing.

A pioneer in mastering these important early instruments, the members of the cornett family, Silverstein has played with the Cambridge Society for Early Music and the Boston Camerata, and has been assistant to Friedrich von Hugel, the noted recorder maker. He has taught at Stanford University and at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Charkey studied lute with Joseph Ladame at the Hartt College of Music. In 1972 he won the Bodley Award for his performances of Early Music.

Ironing Efficiency Saves Energy

An iron that consumes as much energy as ten 100-watt light bulbs, reports the National Association of Realtors.

Most homeowners can not afford to replace all their sheets and clothing with "no iron" products, but they can adopt a few simple procedures to minimize the amount of energy used when ironing.

If clothing is removed promptly from the dryer and carefully folded, wrinkles won't have time to set in and many items will need only touch-up ironing or none at all.

Iron low temperature fabrics first to reduce warm-up time for the iron.

Iron large batches of clothing at one time to avoid reheating the iron.

Be sure to turn off your iron when finished. You may want to do so slightly beforehand and complete the job on stored energy.

These and other energy-saving tips are offered by Realtors as part of their nationwide campaign to encourage homeowners to save energy.

How To Handle Home Sales Pitch

Almost everyone has had the experience of being descended upon by an aggressively charming door-to-door salesperson. Unfortunately, all too many of us have emerged from these types of encounters with a house or mailbox full of items we never intended to buy.

There are, however, ways to effectively assert one's control in these situations and make sure you buy and keep only those items you choose. The October issue of Co-Ed, a high school home economics magazine, features a compiled list of information on how to handle door-to-door sales which will help you do just that.

Beware of the door-to-door sales pitch that begins with the salesperson stating that he or she has entered some type of competition and needs to sell so many of X in order to win. The offer may be legitimate, but the pitch itself is aimed at your emotions.

Beware also of the salesperson who begins their pitch by announcing they are doing a "survey." In this case, goods are offered to you "on approval" if you sign a "receipt." The "receipt" can turn out to be a binding contract. If a product is good, these plays aren't necessary.

Ask for written identification of the salesperson. Request proof of membership in the Direct Selling Association. It prescribes a code of ethics for its members.

Ask the salesperson to return in a few days. If he or she is legitimate and interested in making a sale, it won't pose a problem.

Make sure that all promises are in writing.

Thanks to a June, 1974, ruling by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), you can change your mind if you do purchase an item. However, the cooling-off period for door-to-door sales only covers transactions of $25 or more, and you have only three business days to change your mind.

According to the FTC, sellers must inform you of your rights to cancel, provide you with a contract or receipt of sale, and attach it to two completed copies of a form entitled "Notice of Cancellation." The notice informs you that any down payments, checks, banknotes, or traded-in goods will be returned to you, without penalty, within 10 business days of notice of cancellation.

Your part of the bargain is to send a cancellation notice within three business days, if you decide you don't want your door-to-door purchase. The completed form must contain the date of sale, seller's name and address, and the cancellation date. It must also be in the language of the sales pitch.

Arrange to return any merchandise you've received within 30 days, or ship it back at the seller's expense.

Knowing your rights and using good consumer sense will help avoid door-to-door sales problems. If problems or questions do arise, contact your local consumer agency, Better Business Bureau, or write: Federal Trade Commission, Bureau of Consumer Protection, Washington, D.C. 20580.

Area Hospitals To Offer Diabetes Screening Programs

The third leading cause of death in the United States is diabetes, and, according to a recent publication by the American Diabetes Association Michigan affiliate, there are an estimated 200,000 people in Michigan who have diabetes and do not know it.

A diabetes detection screening for all unknown diabetics will be held at area hospitals this week.

Mercy Hospital, Benton Harbor, and Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph, will conduct their screening programs from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 10. Memorial's tests will be in that hospital's Forum and Mercy's will be on the second floor north.

Berrien General Hospital, Berrien Center, will be screening from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 10, in the hospital laboratory.

Waterford Community Hospital will conduct a diabetic information program tonight at 8 o'clock in the hospital dining room. Screening tests will be from 7:30-10 a.m. and 2-4 p.m.

Tuesday, Nov. 8, and from 7:30-10 a.m. and 2-4 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9, also in the hospital dining room.

A prescribed diet will be recommended two hours before the test.

"Diabetes left untreated or undetected may result in additional complications. While not the outcome of the disease, uncontrolled diabetes can lead to heart disease, blindness, impotence, poor circulation, gangrene, and possible eventual death following coma," according to Robert R. Small, M.D., chief of the department of emergency-outpatient care at Memorial Hospital.

"There are many people 'on the line' between diabetes and normalcy," according to Marcia Williams, R.N., staff development instructor at Memorial.

"These border-line people we refer to as 'pre-diabetics,'" Mrs. Williams said. "While most patients must be treated with some form of insulin, a pre-diabetic may be controlled by a regulated diet."

Those prone to the disease are generally overweight. Doctors now believe that one's risk of getting diabetes doubles with every 20 per cent of excess weight.

Eventual death following coma does not have to happen, according to Dr. Small. With early detection and proper control, the known diabetic can live a comfortable, if somewhat changed life.

"We've gone so overboard on cancer and heart disease that we tend to forget about diseases like diabetes," Barb Elliot, director of in-service training at Berrien General Hospital, said. "We must realize that diabetes is a serious thing. It affects all phases of the patient's life."

"The diabetic must learn a new lifestyle. He will have to follow a specified regime. His way of life will change as he once knew it. He will have to give up liquor and should quit smoking. He will have to inform his family and neighbors, dentist and eye doctor, as well as his employer of his condition. He will even have to budget his calories to go to a restaurant."

Suzette Bruha, R.N., director of in-service training at Mercy Hospital, added that while the change of lifestyle is generally drastic for the patient, it is a very healthy change. "If everyone would follow a diabetic's diet and general health precautions, we would be much healthier. We would soon learn moderation in all things."

New Products Are Never Ending

Somewhere between 1950 and 1955, manufacturers and consumers went on a new products kick which has never really ended. But, according to Maryann Beckman, District Extension Consumer Marketing Information Agent, like all long-term relationships, it has had its ups and downs.

Mrs. Beckman added: Americans, young and old, have always been intrigued by that which is new and different and that which offers a hidden future promise. But it is impossible to forecast how rapidly Americans will buy new foods or why they refuse to accept others. And therein lies one of the biggest problems in new product development.

When you look around the stores, you soon realize how few of the most successful products today are over 10 years old. Only 34 percent of the new products introduced in 1972 are still on the market today and only 3.3 percent of these are currently successful.

Why have new products? One reason is the intrigue of something new, convenience to consumers and, of course, profitability. New products introduced in 1972 alone produced sales of almost $242 million. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been profited to the overall economy as a result of new products developed in the last five years. The continuation of new products is critical to the health of the food industry and to the well being of consumers.

Developing new products is no easy task. Research and development costs are high and manufacturers say their laboratories don't come up with enough new ideas. Test marketing costs are high too and test marketing takes a long time. But all this is necessary to get a new product on the shelf.

Most retailers won't take on a new product unless the company can provide test market results that show that the product will sell. They also demand generous introductory case allowances to promote the product. Then they all just hope and pray that consumers will buy the products.

Sometimes retailers won't even take on a new product unless they remove one of the manufacturers other products to make room. That is one reason some of your favorites disappear. The products in the line that don't sell as well as others are the first to go when a newer product is introduced.

Most of the new products being developed today are simply new combinations which are added to already existing product lines, or new flavors.

A leading gelatin dessert company has just added apricot flavor to their gelatin mixes. Another company has added frozen croques, in a variety of main dish and dessert forms, to their line of frozen entrees. Some new products offer more convenience than their counterparts, such as the new formulation of pancake mix that includes everything — milk, shortening and eggs. All you add is water.

Some products are new types or use newer ingredients. One company is testing the "first reported" fortified carbonated beverage, "for example, while another is producing a sugarless gum that is sweetened with xylitol, a new natural sweetening agent. Xylitol provides a unique "cooling effect" in the mouth, is as sweet as sugar on a pound-for-pound basis and is said to be non-cariogenic.

No matter what the product, new products deserve a chance. Look around your favorite store and try the new products at least once. Consumers have changed. They are now more discriminating as a whole than ever before and generally won't buy a new product unless it is the right size, works like it's supposed to, is tested properly and lives up to the advertising claims and label asserts. But you can't tell these things unless and until you buy at least once.

New products may last for 10 years or after trying them once, may not be purchased again. No matter what, give them a chance to fit into your menu plans by giving them a try, when you see them in the supermarkets.

Open House Set Sunday

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD PRIBBERNOW

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pribbernow, 604 Lions Park Drive, St. Joseph, will be honored at an open house Sunday, Nov. 13, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Michigan for the past 25 years, the couple has lived in Hartford for 13 years.

They have three children, John Oliver of South Haven and Mrs. William (Carolyn) Prince and Mrs. Bertice (Kathy) Saxe of Hartford; nine grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in 10 days before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Toilet Paper Hangup Again

Dear Ann Landers: Have you considered early retirement? If not, may I suggest it? I think senility is creeping up on you.

I almost quit reading your column after that ridiculous poll you did last year on whether or not parents would have had their children if they had it to do over again. Then you had the gall to try to defend that crazy question by calling it "research." For some masochistic reason, I continue to read you.

Your latest, however, is the pits. It seems you've gone haywire on how to hang toilet paper. Who cares, except a few neurotic lunatics? It's enough that you printed that letter from some dude whose uncle happened to manage hotels in Switzerland. And then you printed another letter from an idiot who advises toilet paper manufacturers to put the print on the other side — so the design won't face the wall when hung "properly."

The real solution would, of course, be to use white tissue paper and hang it any way you darn well please. Of course that would delight the environmentalists whom you insulted recently by saying that they have overdone a good thing and now we are having an energy problem. I mention the environmentalists because they claim that white toilet paper causes less pollution since it does not contain colored dye. Obviously, the best solution would be to recycle your column. Signed — D.R.T., From Wakesfield, Nebraska.

Dear D.R.T.: I am properly chastened by your thoughtful letter. I have no plans to retire at the moment, but one more letter on toilet paper may well send me round the bend and they will take me off the job with a butterfly net.

Murphy's Law

Dear Ann Landers: You made reference in a recent column to Murphy's law. Unfortunately you printed only part of it. Perhaps you are unaware that there is more. May I PROVIDE THE REST?

Murphy's Law Of Perversity: Nothing is as easy as it looks. Everything takes longer than you expect.

If anything can go wrong it will.

If there is a possibility of several things going wrong, the one that will go wrong first will be the one that will do the most

If you work on a thing long enough to "improve" it, it will break.

If you think everything will be O.K. you have surely overlooked something.

Mother nature always sides with the hidden flaw.

Mother nature is a witch. We Love You In Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Love: Thanks for

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have had two heart attacks, both mild, and am on a low cholesterol diet. What are vegetable fats? Are they polyunsaturated or not?

Can I have peanut butter sandwiches without too much damage to my system?

DEAR READER — Judging from the enormous number of letters I get about fats that is one of the most difficult concepts for the public to understand about foods.

The term vegetable fat includes all fats that don't come from animals or animal products. Hence it includes safflower oil which is low in saturated fat and high in polyunsaturated fat, and coconut oil, which is just the opposite, high in saturated fat and low in polyunsaturated fat. If you want to limit saturated fat and use polyunsaturated fat, don't depend on a food label that just says vegetable fat — it is often coconut oil, saturated fat.

The other point people have trouble with is understanding that the fat in food is made up of several different types of fat. Part of the fat is saturated, part monounsaturated and some polyunsaturated fat. The ratio is important. If you want to eat food that contains fat that is low in saturated fat and relatively high in polyunsaturated fat, you will choose fish, or not quite so good, poultry. The red meats tend to contain fat that is relatively low in polyunsaturated fat.

The number of letters about peanut butter also attests to its place as an American favorite. Half the weight of peanut butter is FAT and about 20 per cent of that fat is saturated fat. You would be better off to choose breast of chicken and eat chicken sandwiches if you want to limit your fat consumption.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis. It will give you the general principles you need to follow a diet that helps keep your level of fatty-cholesterol particles down. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 60 years old and had a hysterectomy at age 53. A year ago, we moved and I went in a new doctor. He proceeded to do a Pap test. Now it's been a year since the negative test and I received a notice it is time for my yearly Pap test. Is this necessary? I always thought that after the uterus was removed that was it.

Please find it in your heart to answer this old lady.

DEAR READER — From a purist point of view, you could develop cancer of the vagina, but of course your days of worrying about cervical cancer are over. The risk of cancer is indeed small in anyone who has had both the cervix and body of the uterus removed.

I still think you should have an annual examination with or without a Pap test. You need to be sure you don't have any lumps in your breasts. You are in the age group for the peak rate of breast cancer (between 55 and 74 years of age). When there, talk your Pap test question over with your doctor.

Unless your ovaries were removed with your uterus, you should have an examination anyway, because ovarian cancer can still occur and is the fifth most common cause of cancer deaths in women in the same age group.

Two area students at Western Michigan University are among the direction and production staff of University Theater's presentation for the Children's Experimental Theater, to be presented Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18 and 19.

Kent Goetz, a senior from Stevensville, will assist the director, Lyda Stillwell, associate professor of theater.

Tom Haley, a freshman from Hartford, will participate as a production associate.

This year's production, the 11th annual improvisational children's show entitled "An Imagination Celebration," is created especially for nine through 12-year-olds.

Curtain time is 7:30 p.m. and tickets are 50 cents.

Additional information and reservations are available by calling the Shaw Theater ticket office from noon to 5 p.m. daily.

Heard 'Em All

When it comes to homework, educators have heard every excuse in the book.

"My mother wrapped the garbage in it."

"I put it in the family Bible to hold my place and forgot to take it out."

"My little brother pee-ed on it."

The excuses often showed more imagination than the assignments turned in and invariably involved a third party who was totally responsible for their deficiency.

This fall, 850,000 women over 35 are returning to the classrooms as students. They're not entering the academic world empty-handed. Thanks to their children, they have a couple of years' supply of excuses. Only a few words have to be changed to get them off the hook.

"I was going to do my homework last night, but my husband put me to bed early."

"My paper was typed neatly and ready to turn in when my brother spilled his martini all over it at the breakfast table."

"I had every intention of going to the library, but I couldn't find my car keys."

"My children were hanging on the phone all night and I couldn't call my best friend and get the assignment."

"I didn't feel well. I went into false labor 10 months early."

"I picked the same topic every other person in the class picked... The Evolution of Storm Doors in the Ming Dynasty... and all the books were out."

"Our dog is being paper trained... you may have noticed."

Your Birthday

Tuesday, Nov. 8, 1977

This coming year you may surprise others and even yourself by your imaginative approach to money matters. Put those ideas to work for you. There's a good chance for increased income.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your concern for others is commendable today. However, you should be very careful not to overextend yourself in a misguided attempt to do good. Find out who you're romantically suited to by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 480, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10010. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Inside tips on big deals from well-meaning friends should be carefully eyed today. They could be like a glittering watch with no mainspring.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) For the sake of good public relations today, treat everyone impartially. As soon as you bestow the least bit of favoritism, someone will be hurt.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your advice is quite sound today and will be very helpful. The problem is that you don't take to heart the same wisdom you impart.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) To begin with, this isn't a good day to take gambles. The odds against you are even greater if you have no voice in calling the shots.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In order to impress others today, you may resort to embellishing the facts. This will probably have exactly the opposite effect.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today, you desire grandeur. Business isn't always beautiful or best, so stay within the realm of practicality.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although your judgment is amazingly acute in many ways, in financial affairs you miss the hint by failing to see the small parts that make up the whole.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today, relying on Lady Luck and your good looks may be a mistake. Both can help, but it will take some honest effort to finish the job.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be able today to distinguish between optimism and false hope, or the sand castles will be swept away with the first tide.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions contributing to your stability are a mixed bag today. Unfortunately, misplaced faith may lure in the wrong direction.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's very important today that an influential contact continues to hold you in high regard. Do nothing that would lower you in his eyes.

Jim: "Championship bridge in America is tough. In Europe where almost every country plays several complicated artificial systems almost anything can happen and usually does. Take this hand that decided a match between England and Italy. The English bidding is shown in the box."

Oswald: "It started simply enough. Then North jumped to four hearts to show a void. South showed the spade ace and North bid five notrump to ask South to bid seven diamonds if he held two of the three top honors."

Jim: "West opened the queen of hearts. South ruffed in dummy. Ten minutes later he came to his hand with the queen of clubs, ruffed his last low heart, tried to discard the king of hearts on a club and was down one when West ruffed. We have little criticism of this play, but if South had led a low diamond toward his hand at trick two he could have made the slam."

Oswald: "The Italian bidding was really weird. South started with an artificial club to show a minimum opening. A diamond would have been a strong bid. North responded one spade. South raised to two and North jumped to six clubs to tell partner to forget about spades. South's singleton club was the queen and the slam rolled in."

ASK THE GOODYS

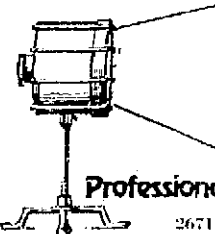

A Canadian reader wants to know what we rebid after partner responds one no-trump to our one-diamond opening. We hold:

♠ K x x ♥ K x x ♦ A K x x ♣ x x

The correct rebid is a pass. We have a minimum balanced hand. There is no good reason to rebid our five-card suit.

U.S. Lax On Sex Bias In Schools?

By CHRIS CONNELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's "lackadaisical" enforcement of a 1972 law barring sex discrimination in schools has allowed unfair treatment of female students and teachers to persist, a women's rights group charged today.

The federal Office for Civil Rights resolved only 179 of the 871 complaints it received between July 1972, when Title IX took effect, and October 1976, the Project on Equal Education Rights said.

A third of the complaints charged discrimination in employment, while 22 percent involved athletics.

The average case took 14 months to resolve and most of the investigations were cursory, according to PIER, part of the National Organization for Women's Legal Defense and Education Fund.

PIER spent a year analyzing the government's enforcement effort. Holly Knox, PIER's director, said the relatively small number of complaints filed under Title IX reflects the government's failure to cut off funds to school districts that violated the law and its failure to publicize citizens' rights under the law.

David S. Tatel, director of the civil rights office, said PIER was "essentially accurate" in criticizing the past administration's performance from 1972 to 1976. But he said the Carter administration is committed "to end sex discrimination where we find it."

Tatel said in recent months the office has reduced its backlog of unanswered Title IX inquiries from 410 to less than 100 while increasing its investigative staff.

PIER said the problem was not understaffing, but bureaucratic indecision and reluctance to make potentially controversial rulings.

Chinese Sight Possible Comet

TOKYO (AP) — A Chinese observatory sighted "a fast-moving, blurred celestial body, possibly a new comet," on Nov. 5-6, the Hsinhua news agency reported today.

The official Chinese agency said the Tauchinshan observatory in Nanjing reported the celestial body had a brightness of 13.5 magnitude. A magnitude of more than 6 is not visible to the naked eye.

Nurses Await Judge's Ruling

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two nurses convicted of poisoning patients at a veterans' hospital in Michigan are free indefinitely following their release from a federal women's prison this weekend.

The women, both Filipino citizens, will remain free under $75,000 bond until a federal judge rules on a defense motion for a new trial or a reversal of their convictions.

Filipina Narciso, 31, of Ypsilanti, Mich., and Leonora Perez, 31, of Ann Arbor, Mich., were released Saturday from the Alderson Federal Reformatory for Women after undergoing six weeks of court-ordered psychiatric tests.

Miss Narciso returned to her home in Ypsilanti. She was met at Detroit Metropolitan Airport by friends Saturday evening.

Mrs. Perez spent the weekend in Washington, D.C., where she was met by her husband and attended a wedding, according to Michael Moran of Ann Arbor, one of her attorneys.

Carson Markley, prison warden at the Alderson Reformatory, said the women were released at 9 a.m. Saturday and driven to an airport in Lewisburg, W.Va., by a local minister and his wife, who also is of Filipino descent.

U.S. District Judge Philip Pratt in September ordered the women to undergo up to 90 days of mental tests and evaluation at the federal facility. They had been at the prison for more than a month.

Sentencing had been postponed indefinitely pending results of the tests, and Pratt now will rule on the motion for a new trial before setting a date for sentencing.

The two women were found guilty July 13 of conspiracy in using the paralyzing drug Pavulon to poison five patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor. Miss Narciso and Mrs. Perez worked in the hospital's intensive care unit in the summer of 1975.

Retarded Center Layoffs Probed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A fact-finding committee will begin an investigation today into reports that 21 employees of a center for retarded patients have been suspended for alleged physical abuse of residents.

State police were called in to help with the probe after officials of the Oakdale Center for Developmental Disabilities said it appeared there was "a coverup and conspiracy across different shifts of workers."

Dr. David Ethridge, director of the Center, said the preliminary investigation has been underway for several days. The Center houses 1,150 mentally retarded children and adults and is manned by 1,400 employees, half of them unimpaired.

A token picket line from Local 567 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union (AFSCME) picketed the Center Saturday with union local president Paul Jager predicting 300 to 400 would join the picket lines.

Union officials said the charges against the suspended workers were vague and that the union had no idea of what the employees are alleged to have done.

The suspended 21 comprise all personnel who work directly with patients at one of the cottages which hold 40 residents. A spokesman for the home said they bathe and feed the patients and accompany them to various places in the big facility.

Union spokesman Terry Dietrich said a new policy governing alleged abuses of inmates was put into effect last August. Ethridge said there had been many changes at Oakdale since he became director 18 months ago. He said part of it was due to increased paperwork required to meet government forms.

He declined to discuss matters which will be probed by the fact-finding committee but said, "I have done away with the old methods of control here."

These included cuffing a kid behind the ear, making him kneel in a corner or putting his head in a toilet and flushing it. These are the kind of events that are reported to have happened here.

He said he had introduced sex education for the mentally retarded inmates.

"In the past, if the residents were caught engaging in sex out in a field or masturbating, they were punished. We don't encourage this now but we don't punish them for it. We try to counsel the individuals."

Pols Watch State, City Votes

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

Two states choose governors and 38 major cities elect mayors this week, but clues to the nation's political future will be hard to find.

Jobs, federal funds and crime control are among the issues, but the only national development has been President Carter's trips to New Jersey and Virginia, where he campaigned for the Democratic gubernatorial tickets.

The Republicans are trying to retain the governorship in Virginia and take back the New Jersey State House they held four years ago.

Meanwhile, black candidates are making historic races in New Orleans and Buffalo, N.Y.

The Democratic mayoral nominee is expected to win easily in New York, while most other big city elections are non-partisan.

The Virginia race is between Republican Lt. Gov. John Dalton and Democrat Henry Howell, who has run twice unsuccessfully.

Virginia Gov. Mills E. Godwin, who served previously as a Democratic governor, converted to the GOP and won again four years ago.

He beat Howell, who believes — as does Dalton — that Tuesday's election will be close.

Support of a state income tax appeared initially to have hurt New Jersey Gov. Brendan Byrne's re-election chances. But now polls show him even with Republican state Sen. Raymond H. Bateman, who received a campaign visit from former President Gerald Ford.

In New York City, U.S. Rep. Edward Koch, the Democratic nominee, is considered to be far ahead of Martin Chomko of the Liberal Party, Republican state Sen. Roy Goodman and Conservative Garry Fisher.

Coleman Young, who became Detroit's first black mayor four years ago, has solidified his political base and is expected to defeat City Councilman Ernest Browne, also black and a Democrat.

In Buffalo, Liberal Assemblyman Arthur Eve opposes conservative state Sen. James D. Griffin in the mayoral runoff. Both are Democrats, but Eve, who placed first in the earlier primary, is the first black to make a serious run for mayor in the largely Italian and Slavic city.

State Appeals Judge Ernest Moreau is New Orleans' first major black mayoral candidate, facing Councilman Joseph DiRosa in a runoff on Saturday.

With Republican Mayor Ralph Perle of Cleveland defeated in the primary, Dennis Kucinich, clerk of municipal court, is facing state Rep. Edward Vaughan in that Ohio city Tuesday.

Three-Month Steelworker Strike May Hinge On Incentive Pay Vote

VIRGINIA, Minn. (AP) — Striking steelworkers in Minnesota and Upper Michigan may vote as early as this week on a proposal which could solve the key issue of incentive pay. United Steelworkers of America President Lloyd McBride said Sunday.

McBride, who has endorsed the industry proposal, made the announcement to a steelworkers solidarity rally which drew about 2,500 people in Virginia following peaceful march through the city's streets.

The union's negotiating committee was to meet today to study the proposal. The offer could be passed on to the locals, with or without an endorsement, for their vote or it could be rejected entirely.

Although full details will be given to the locals later, McBride said, the proposal would give iron ore miners two-thirds parity with their steel mill counterparts in the area of incentive pay. The strikers have been seeking full parity.

The incentive pay issue has bogged down negotiations in the 3-month-old strike, with the industry insisting it is not a legitimate local issue and the union equally adamant that it is.

The Experimental Negotiating Agreement included in the national steel industry contract prohibits strikes on nationally negotiated issues but the union retains the right to walk out over local issues.

McBride said that in his talks with high-level industry negotiators, it became increasingly obviously that no progress would be made until the incentive pay issue was resolved.

Recently, McBride said, he learned the industry was making arrangements to import iron ore to carry it through the winter if the strike remained deadlocked.

McBride said he asked the industry representatives to come up with an offer on incentive pay before the arrangements were completed.

Friday, after several weeks of negotiations, the industry made an offer that McBride felt he could endorse. Although the proposal does not fully meet the union's demands, he said, it represents a substantial improvement and, more importantly, the establishment of the incentive pay program in the area of ore mining.

Steel Hauling Firm Owner Convicted

DETROIT (AP) — The owner of a Detroit steel hauling firm has been convicted of extorting money from his truck drivers to pay their Teamster health, welfare and pension benefits.

After deliberating more than 13 hours Saturday, a federal jury convicted Joseph D. Cusumano, owner of J&J Cartage Co., of forcing drivers to let him deduct 11 percent of their gross earnings to pay for their benefits.

Such deductions violate national and local Teamster contracts, which require the employer to pay the benefits. Cusumano also was convicted of conspiracy.

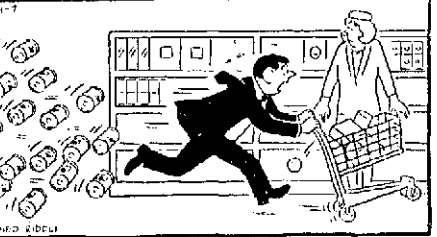

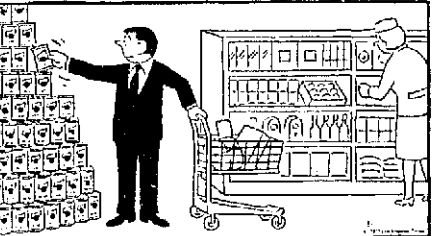

During the trial, drivers testified they feared economic reprisals from Cusumano if they refused to sign a rider to their contracts authorizing the deductions.

Drivers also testified they were afraid of reputed Detroit Mafia figure Vincent A. Meli, a company salesman described by drivers as "the muscle" to enforce company orders.

Meli, Teamster business agent Ruby G. Smith, and Cusumano's former partner, James A. Russo, were indicted with Cusumano last April, but have not yet gone on trial.

Cusumano faces a maximum of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each of two counts.

AMC Plans 5 Fresh Offerings

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. will do whatever is "legal, moral and nonfettering" to remain in the passenger car business, says the new chief executive officer of the nation's No. 4 automaker.

Gerald C. Meyers, 48, who succeeded Roy Chapin as AMC chief executive officer last month, says change and innovation is what is needed to steer the nation's fourth largest auto maker out of its slump.

Encouraged by demand for the Concord, its new luxury compact, AMC will do "whatever is necessary — providing it's legal, moral and nonfettering — to make a success out of this business," vows Meyers.

Instead of backing out of the passenger car business, AMC plans to introduce five new automotive "offerings" in January. Meyers won't say what they are, but hints they might include new versions of the Gremlin and Pacer.

And AMC is keeping an "open mind" to a possible merger with a European car maker that could benefit from AMC's far-flung distribution network.

"I represent to this company a fresh face, a new energy and I do not intend to do all things the way they were done before," Meyers says.

AMC sold 204,000 cars last year, only 2 percent of the total U.S. auto sales. The company expects to show a $5 million profit this year, but it will do so largely because of its popular Jeep and heavy sales of buses and military vehicles.

Like other company officials, Meyers thinks AMC must move

'Foot Drop' Problem Can Affect Young And Old

The locomotion provided by our feet and legs is such a part of our everyday lives that we almost take it for granted. But just let "foot drop" strike and we become acutely aware of how important the ability to walk really is.

What is meant by the term "foot drop"? For an answer, we consulted Dr. Ackerman D.C., of The Ackerman Chiropractic Center.

"Foot drop" is a slang term used by the healing arts to describe the condition a person experiences when he or she doesn't feel secure in his or her steps," explains Dr. Ackerman.

Dr. Vince Ackerman, D.C. it may seem silly to most of us. It is a very real and urgent problem to the victim. Imagine the housewife who has a hundred foot walk to the clothesline or the deliveryman who must haul his load the length of a warehouse to his truck, then possibly further from the truck to its destination."

The "foot drop" symptom is generally related to degenerative disorders. Dr. Ackerman cautions the reader not to be misled by the term "degenerative," as "foot

"drop" usually starts cropping up in the 20's and 30's rather than in later years as the degenerative term might imply.

"The symptoms of lower back disc degeneration are casual at first," warns Dr. Ackerman. "The victim may sense a numbness in the legs, have tingling sensations, or have a limb that's quick to 'go to sleep'."

As the problem becomes more acute, there will be shooting pains in the legs, often accompanied by coldness or lack of feeling in the legs or feet.

Although drug therapy may bring temporary relief in the beginning, it does nothing about the actual cause of the problem.

"These tell-tale symptoms of numbness, pain, tingling, etc., should serve as immediate notice to seek accurate diagnosis and effective treatment," Dr. Ackerman says. "Leg and foot problems should be investigated immediately. By their very name and nature, degenerative problems relate to time. And time is on your side only when corrective action is taken quickly."

AT COLOMA

Power Outage
Closes Schools

COLOMA — An electrical outage on the city's west side this morning forced the dismissal of classes at the high school and middle school.

Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. reported its Coloma substation lost some of its transmission at 8:46 a.m. but power was returned by 10 a.m.

However, a transformer at the high school overheated during the transmission failure, causing slight smoke in a portion of the school. Coloma firemen were called in to cool down the transformer.

Classes were dismissed when power at the school was not returned.

The high school was still reported without power as of 10:15 a.m. I & M officials said a truck had been dispatched to the high school to investigate the problem.

The I & M spokesman said no cause has been determined for the substation's loss of power.

The outage affected some 22 businesses and 200 residential customers, the I&M spokesman said.

Other I&M customers on the northwest side of Paw Paw Lake were without electricity for several hours early Sunday after a pickup truck struck a utility pole, snapping the pole and bringing the lines down.

Coloma Township police reported Catherine Donovan, 22, Kalamazoo, driver of the truck, was treated and released from Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph, following the accident. A passenger in the truck, Mary Ellen Callan, 22, Kalamazoo, was not injured.

The accident occurred along Paw Paw Lake Road, north of North Bay Drive. The driver told police she was northbound when she lost control of the vehicle and it ran off the road. Police said she was issued a ticket for failing to have her vehicle under control. The accident happened at 1:22 a.m., police said.

not be opened from the outside. Higgs said the gymnasium lights were out. They are controlled from a master switch and could not be turned on, Higgs said. He said the only light in the gymnasium was from exit lights over doors. Timothy and Mark had their own basketball with them, and apparently just wanted to play in the gymnasium at the time, Higgs said.

St. Joseph Police Chief William Mihalik this morning said his department was not notified of the accident by the hospital. Mihalik said law requires hospitals to notify police of acts of physical violence, but not of accidents.

Thursday's accident came the day after Kathleen A. Rumeu, 15, was released from Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted Oct. 26 with injuries received in the school gymnasium. Kathleen was injured during a physical education class, when she fell into the narrowing gap of a mechanically-operated partition, being closed at the time. She reportedly sustained head injuries. Kathleen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aurelio Rumeu, 4405 Terra Lane, Royalton Township.

Timothy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spiller, who reside at 2527 Lake View Ave., directly across the street from the high school.

Timothy was born Nov. 19, 1962, in Kalamazoo and had resided in the area 3½ years.

Besides his parents, survivors include a sister, Stacy and a brother, Richard, both at home; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Carl Spiller, Petoskey, Mich.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. today in St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Additional services will be held at the Stone Funeral Home, Petoskey.

Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery, Petoskey.

TRAFFIC CRASHES
Suffer Injuries

Two motorists suffered apparently minor injuries in separate one-car accidents in Benton Township Sunday, according to Benton Township police.

Patrolman Jim Windsor reported Daniel N. Anglin, 18, of Sister Lakes, was treated at Memorial Hospital and released after he lost control of his west-bound auto on East Napier Avenue near Benton Center, and the car rolled over five times.

Windsor said Anglin was driving alone at the time of the 7:51 a.m. crash and would be ticketed for careless driving.

In a second accident, police said Richard Lee Daniels, 26, of 114 Catalpa St., Benton Harbor, suffered multiple head cuts and was treated at Mercy Hospital and released after he failed to negotiate a curve while driving on Crystal Avenue south of Red Arrow Highway.

Sgt. Roger Peters reported the auto ran off the road and struck a fence bordering Twin Cities Airport. Peters said the driver left the scene of the 7:11 p.m. accident and was traced to his home by police, who then took the man to the hospital for treatment.

Police investigation of the accident continues, according to Peters, and no tickets have been issued.

Donald E. Frakes, 59, of 464 Madeline Ave., Benton Township, was listed Sunday in satisfactory condition at Mercy Hospital, where he was admitted following a traffic accident Friday in Benton Harbor.

Patrolman Lloyd Hughes said the collision occurred at 5:15 p.m. on W. Main Street at Ninth Street. Frakes was reported driving a pickup truck, which collided with a semi-truck while making a left turn off Main.

The semi-truck, owned by John G. Yerington Transport Co., was reported driven by Thomas L. Sharat, 39, of 4013 E. Napier Ave., Bainbridge Township. Patrolman Hughes said Sharat, who was eastbound on Main, complained of a pain in the right leg, but was not treated immediately. Hughes said Frakes was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Benton Harbor Patrolman Delmar Lange said a driver was injured in a three-car collision on Colfax Avenue near May Street at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Lange said Mary H. Cohen, 61, of 1809 Newman Terrace, Benton Township, received a cut on the forehead, but sought her own treatment. Lange said the Cohen auto was struck in the back by an auto driven by Joseph Pantelleria, 53, of 5848 Creek View, Stevensville. The impact pushed the Cohen auto forward and into the rear of an auto operated by Leonard L. Casulini, 27, of 1062 Maple Lane, Benton Harbor. Lange said Pantelleria was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured clear distance.

St. Joseph police said an auto within a three-minute period Saturday struck two street light poles and an island traffic marker.

Lt. Ted Fleisher said a witness reported at 8:50 p.m. that an auto struck a light pole on Port at Wayne Streets, near the Twin Cities Bicentennial Bridge. Fleisher said the auto continued, hitting a second pole on Main, south of Port and the island marker on Main at Elm.

Fleisher who joined in pursuit, said the auto was southbound on Main and stopped in the 700 block. Reported injured, but not requiring hospital treatment was the driver, Helene Marie Gast, 53, of 2217 Wilson Court, St. Joseph. Fleisher said she was booked for investigation of a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

The pole at Port and Wayne and the traffic island were broken, but the other light pole was undamaged.

South Haven
In Collision

SOUTH HAVEN — Daniel Phillips, 24, 329 Eagle St., South Haven, was listed in good condition today at Holland Hospital with injuries suffered yesterday in a car-motorcycle accident.

City police said Phillips was the driver of a motorcycle that was struck by a car driven by Jack Lange, 56, 30 Lakeshore Drive, South Haven, at the intersection of Huron Street and Broadway Avenue at 4:25 p.m.

Police said Lange was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Injured
Niles Man
Facing
4 Charges

NILES — A Niles man was hospitalized early Sunday following what police described as a high-speed chase which ended with a scuffle after the man's car collided with a police car.

Two Niles officers were injured slightly in the incident, police said.

Reported in satisfactory condition this morning at Pawating Hospital, Niles, was a man identified by police as Richard Shriver, 34.

The officers injured were identified as Michael Sweeney, 24, and Michael Graham, 25. Both sought their own treatment.

Police said the crash occurred about 1:30 a.m. when the car they were chasing attempted to make a U-turn on 15th Street and crashed nearly head-on with the police car. Graham and Sweeney reported the driver of the chased car ran from his vehicle after the accident and two state troopers, who had joined in the chase, helped to subdue the fleeing man.

Graham said the chase, which took place over several streets on the city's eastside and reached speeds as high as 80 mph began when a car allegedly ran a red light at the corner of 12th and Main Streets.

Police said Shriver faces charges of reckless driving, attempting to flee police, driving on a suspended license, and parole violation. Police said Shriver is on parole from a 1975 sentence in St. Joseph County on a breaking and entering charge.

According to police, the cruiser involved in the crash received an estimated $1,000 worth of damage. They also said Graham's service revolver was damaged when it fell in the pavement during the scuffle.

Lawrence Husband Arrested

LAWRENCE — A 47-year-old Lawrence man was arrested late Saturday afternoon after his wife reported she had been cut on the arm with a knife, according to state police of the Paw Paw post.

Booked at the Van Buren County Jail on a charge of felonious assault was Melvin Gust, 1 & M Motel, Lawrence.

Troopers said his wife, Pearl Gust, 50, suffered a two-inch cut on her right arm and did not require hospital treatment. Police said she told them she was attempting to break up an argument between her husband and son, Donny, about 5 p.m. when she was assaulted.

Police said an eight-inch kitchen knife was seized.

Convictions Won't Close Bolles Case, Prosecutor Says

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The conviction of two men for the murder of Arizona Republic reporter Don Bolles has not closed the books on the case, says chief prosecutor William Schafer III.

"We have always maintained that there's a small band of conspirators," Schafer said. "As I said before, we don't have all the conspirators, but we will."

James Robison, 55, a suburban Chandler plumber, and Max Dunlap, 48, a Phoenix contractor, were convicted Sunday of first-degree murder and conspiracy in Bolles' death.

The conspiracy conviction included a plot to kill Arizona Attorney General Bruce Babbitt and Al "King Alfonso" Lizanetz, 51, a former employee of wealthy liquor wholesaler Kemper Marley Sr.

Robison and Dunlap face possible execution by gas when Superior Court Judge Howard Thompson sentences them Dec. 6.

Bolles was fatally injured

June 2, 1976, when a bomb exploded under his car in a hotel parking lot. He mumbled the words "Adamson," "Emprise" and "Mafia" to passersby as he lay on the pavement. He was hospitalized for 11 days before he died. He was 47.

As the verdict against Dunlap was announced, his oldest daughter, Pam, burst into sobs and threw her arms around her mother, Barbara. Dunlap struck the defense table hesitantly after the verdict was read.

Robison contained his feelings and said to his court-appointed attorney, David Derlekan, "That's the breaks."

Robison and Dunlap were arrested Jan. 15 after John Harvey Adamson admitted his role in the car-bomb slaying.

Adamson, who got a 20-year prison sentence for second-degree murder after agreeing to serve as the state's key witness, said he planted the bomb under Bolles' car after finding the reporter to the hotel with a false news tip. Adamson said Robison triggered the blast with a radio-control transmitter.

Dunlap, Adamson testified, hired him to kill Bolles, Babbitt and Lizanetz.

Babbitt was reportedly a target because of an antitrust suit against the liquor industry, and Lizanetz because of his barrage of letters to legislators reporting alleged Marley crimes.

Adamson said Dunlap told him Marley, who was not charged in the case, would finance the killings.

After the bombing, a group of investigative reporters traveled to Arizona to try to continue work on Bolles' major topics of investigation — organized crime and its possible links to prominent Arizonians.

Members of Investigative Reporters & Editors Inc., headed by Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter Bob Greene of Newsday, spent nearly six months in Phoenix before producing a series of 23 articles last spring. Many newspapers published some of the findings.

Hydrogen Power -- 4,000 MPH Air Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air passengers may someday ride in hydrogen-powered planes that could fly three times faster than the supersonic Concorde, but without the controversial noise problem.

Lockheed-California Co. has a new federal contract to study design of a liquid-hydrogen aircraft that could carry 200 passengers up to 6,000 miles at a cruising speed of 4,000 miles per hour.

The Concorde can go 1,500 miles per hour, although it is restricted to half that speed when flying over most land areas because of its loud sonic boom.

The British-French plane flies at 60,000 feet compared to about 120,000 feet for the proposed hydrogen plane. The higher altitude would eliminate the noise problem.

"From that height, the intensity of any sonic boom would be so dissipated by the time it reached the ground that it would not be objectionable to anyone hearing it," said Dan Brewer, Lockheed's manager for hydrogen studies.

Willis Hawkins, Lockheed president, said U.S. airlines should be flying hydrogen planes by the end of the century.

The 15-month, $270,000 study was awarded last week by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The plane would use five conventional turbojet engines for takeoff and five supersonic combustion ramjet engines for cruising. The turbojet engines would reduce noise on takeoffs and landings.

The contract calls only for a design concept with no actual construction, but federal officials are considering experiments with a test vehicle.

LOOKING FOR BUDGET VACATION? Swap Houses And Save On Bills

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Tired of the traditional vacation at a resort or hotel? Looking for a place to stay that's big enough to hold the whole family without breaking the budget? Try house-swapping.

You can get a rent-free holiday by temporarily trading your home with someone in another part of the country or world. It is time to start planning now, however, if you're interested in a swap next summer.

The advantages of house-swapping are that you have no hotel bill, you may save on restaurant costs by cooking your own meals and you may have a car included in the exchange. You also can learn what it's like to live in a community instead of getting only a tourist's-eye view.

There are disadvantages, too, however. With a few exceptions, maid service is not included in the swaps. You may be nervous about the idea of leaving your own possessions with strangers. The house you select may not be exactly what you had in mind. And the exchange services which put would-be house-swappers in touch with each other offer no guarantee of satisfaction.

Katonah, N.Y., house-swapping service founded in 1975, said Nov. 15 is the deadline for listing a home in the agency's main directory; March 15 is the deadline for the auxiliary publication. Kernan said the service expects to have about 500 listings this year — 60 per cent in the United States and 40 per cent overseas. About 2,500 copies of the directories are distributed.

Kernan advises potential traders to check home and automobile insurance coverage to see whether additional coverage is needed. "You might want to remove valuable breakables, particularly when children are involved," he adds.

Miss DeBaldo said the club had had few problems, but if there is a serious complaint — about owner or occupier — the club will drop the individual from future listings. Miss DeBaldo said.

One way to minimize the chance of trouble is to exchange references, from a bank or an employer, for example, or from previous swappers.

Leo and Florine Isaac, who got the Miss Southwest Michigan Pageant off the ground six years ago, have retired from the pageant committee.

Isaac most recently was a pageant committeeman, and his wife was executive director. He continued under the direction of Dale Pallas of Dowagiac, who was elected president last spring. He will act as interim executive director until a new one is named.

Vermonters Really Mean 'I Do'

By NANCY SHULINS
Associated Press Writer

CABOT, Vt. (AP) — Four Vermont brothers and their wives — with a total of 123 years of married life behind them — have fulfilled a claim they'd made for years: Given the chance, they'd get married all over again.

The four couples repeated their vows Sunday in a special church ceremony replete with crying babies, popping flashbulbs and damp-eyed relatives.

Married again were the Lloyd Lovells, Robert Lovells, Ralph Lovells and Paul Lovells.

A hush fell over the the United Church in Cabot as the couples, in fancy suits and long gowns, marched down the aisle to the strains of the traditional wedding march from Wagner's "Lohengrin." When the organist switched to "I Love You Truly," friends and relatives dabbed their eyes with handkerchiefs.

"None of us ever had church weddings, receptions, honeymoons or even wedding cakes," explained Wilma Lovelly, who married Lloyd 31 years ago Sunday. "We were married during wartime."

For Dora Lovelly, who eloped with Robert at age 16, the ceremony served as "a booster shot" for the couple's 30-year marriage.

"The first one wasn't the same as doing it in church," she said. "And my parents were very upset because I was so young."

Ralph Lovelly was married without the watchful eyes of family members 20 years ago because, as his wife Lola remembered, "We went by ourselves because it seemed like such a sacred thing."

Marge Lovelly, married to Paul, endorses the idea of remarriage.

"I'm very grateful for the 39 years Paul and I have been married," she said. "Renewing our vows was something we wanted to do for our own personal gratification."

Others in the congregation rose at the request of the Rev. David McBride to repeat their marriage vows with the Lovells.

"We pray for their children and grandchildren that from this example each might learn new possibilities for happiness, patience to endure and to understand, and renewed devotion to the marriage vows," McBride said.

Rate Increase Wouldn't Hurt Indiana Port Shipping

PORTAGE, Ind. (AP) — If Great Lakes shipping rates increase next year as expected, the Port of Indiana along Lake Michigan will experience a minor drop in grain hauling, a state official said.

"The Indiana viewpoint is the increased rates will have a minimal effect, if any, on the traffic coming to and from Burns Harbor," said William J. Watt, executive assistant to Gov. Otis R. Bowen.

Port consultant David Abraham, who participated in recent hearings on the proposed rate increase, said within the next two months U.S. and Canadian officials will decide on the new rates. He added that some money generated by the higher cost to use the St. Lawrence Seaway to reach the Great Lakes will be used to extend the winter navigation season, spelling more business for the Indiana port.

Watt said the Hoosier port will remain competitive despite the rate increase. Some shippers warned that the rate hike could reduce commercial traffic to and from the Great Lakes ports, sending some business to East Coast and Gulf ports.

Port operations director Ralph B. Joseph said he believes the higher toll, the first hike since the seaway opened in 1959, is justified. The St.

Lawrence seaway, which connects with the Great Lakes Waterway to form North America's largest inland water navigation system, is the only waterway to impose user charges.

"When you consider we are talking about cost increases per ton, the amount is rather infinitesimal and it should have little impact. I don't think we will be damaged in the long run," Joseph said.

Joseph predicted more than 900,000 tons of cargo will be handled at the port in 1977 — 218,000 tons more than last year. An estimated 150 ships and 250 barges will have docked in the port by the season's end, he said.

Steel Worker Layoffs

It Doesn't Hurt -- Yet

By DAVE TABOLT
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Idled steel workers, cushioned against unemployment by liberal jobless benefits, say it will take time for the hardship of mass layoffs to be felt in the nation's mill towns.

There is little evidence of economic slowdown in cities like Johnstown, Pa., and Youngstown, Ohio, where thousands of steel workers have lost their jobs in recent months, for example.

And while some workers seem anxious to find new work to support their families, most seem content to wait, hoping their prospects for jobs close to friends and family will improve.

"I don't think the real feeling exists yet that these people are laid off," said Joseph Casale, manager of the state employment office in Johnstown where Bethlehem Steel Corp. has discharged 3,800.

"They're saying, 'Let's sit it out for a while,' and they can afford to do this because of the benefits they get."

State unemployment compensation and federal trade adjustment allowances — payments for the impact of steel imports on U.S. jobs — give idled workers about 80 percent of their normal take-home pay tax free.

Supplemental unemployment from company funds add up to $125 a week, depending on years worked, earnings and the fund's size. These benefits average about $80 a week and can be taxed.

Thus steel workers, whose prelayoff earnings averaged $356 a week before taxes, are taking home $200-$270 a week now.

"No one is hurting yet," said Russell Baxter, president of United Steelworkers Local 2183 in Youngstown where 5,000 people are scheduled to lose their jobs at Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. "But wait until the benefits run out. That's when we'll have problems."

Young steel workers will begin to lose their benefits in about six months. Most jobless workers will be without income and key benefits like hospitalization insurance within a year.

"There aren't enough jobs to keep all these people here," said Casale.

"Within the next six months when people really begin to realize what has happened we're going to see a lot of out-migration."

Out-of-town employers are advertising in Johnstown and Youngstown newspapers for prospective employees. Some have sent in recruiters.

"It's what I call skinning," said Youngstown Mayor Jack C. Hunter. "They're coming after the skilled workers."

Some people have agreed to move. Others are looking for the right job. Most seem content to wait, hoping that conditions will change.

"Everything I have is here," said Bill Barrio, 31, a Bethlehem crane operator in Johnstown. "Moving is a big decision. I hope I won't have to make it."

Barrio, who doesn't want to see his 13 years seniority thrown away, hopes to be called back to work. But men with less seniority share his reluctance to move.

One such worker is 21-year-old Kenneth Biddle whose three years with Youngstown Sheet and Tube were enough to qualify him for the barest benefits.

"I'm going to stick it out here and wait it out," he said.

"Picking up and moving doesn't interest me. No matter where I go, sooner or later things will be the same."

Meanwhile, uncertainty has infected both communities. People whose jobs are dependent on a strong steel economy are no longer certain about their own futures.

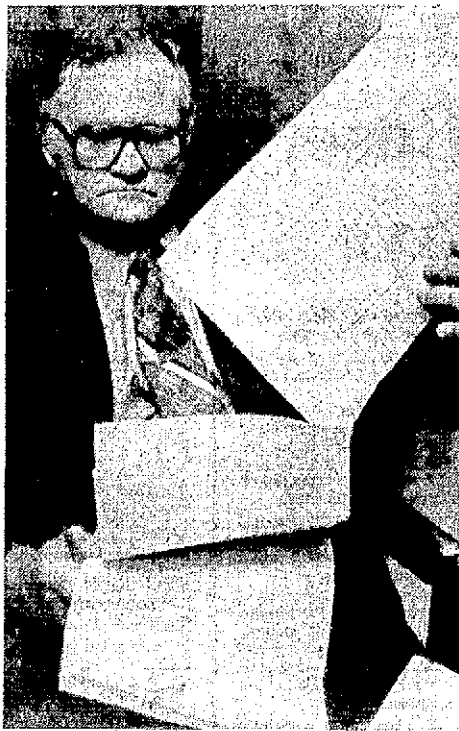

"This is what's so scary," said Casale. "Once you put fear into people who are still working, they hang on to every dollar they can. They don't buy cars, refrigerators or homes and the whole town begins to suffer with them."

The layoffs have their bright spots, however.

Mark Ciccone, a 20-year-old Youngstown steelworker, has decided to go back to school to learn auto mechanics so he can open his own shop. "It's something I've always dreamed about," he said.

And Wren Williams, who gave up a music career for the security of a steel company paycheck has decided to retire at 32 to devote fulltime to his band.

"It's possible these layoffs did me a favor," the 31-year veteran of Youngstown's mills said. "Now I'm free to go as far as I want to get the jobs I want."

GROWING LIST: Russell Baxter, a Youngstown, Ohio steelworker's union president, reviews list of workers who are out of work following the closing of operations at Youngstown Steel. Baxter estimated that about 2400 of 3000 members of his union will be out of work. (AP Laserphoto)

'This Nonsense Has To Cease'

If you were an American Jewish community leader and a spokesman for the president of the United States said, in essence, "If the Israeli lobby makes trouble over Geneva, the president may go to the nation and blame your people for potential nuclear war," how would you react? Given the nervous chromosome that every Jew understandably inherits (it's not paranoid, history testifies Jews have enemies) the thought of being publicly condemned as enemies of world peace would be terrifying.

Yet I am ashamed to say the leaders of American Jewry have been obliquely — and not so obliquely — confronted with precisely this threat. I learned this indirectly when, in a white heat, I denounced President Carter's deal with Moscow as a new "Munich," and my phone began to ring. The gist of the messages, mostly from Jewish friends, was, "Thanks — we were beginning to feel lonely," plus details of the pressures brought to bear on Jewish leaders largely by Zbigniew Brzezinski's White House minions.

For the record, Brzezinski has long supported the Kissinger program of an imposed Middle East settlement in tandem with the USSR ("linkage").

What happened when Carter announced his ghastly scenario was little less than a political firestorm, one utterly unanticipated even by the leaders of the pro-Israel lobby in Washington. Like other lobbies in similar situations, they will probably claim credit and ask for increased budgets. But the American response completely transcended such issues as "West Bank settlements" or "Palestinian representation."

The broadside was delivered from every gunport on the political spectrum: Sen. Bob Dole and Father Robert Drinan made no sound appeasement-minded.

The reason for this snarl must be sought in the American political psyche, notably in our collective response to the defeat in Indochina. Sam Brown, director of ACTION, may have gone to welcome the Vietnamese Communists to the United Nations and wept a bit as he saw the noble fulfillment of his antiwar dreams. The average American let out a savage growl, read the horror stories from the Cambodian and Vietnamese abattoirs, and meditated on revenge.

In other words, the American people have emerged from the hangover and withdrawal symptoms of losing our first war. But this fact completely escaped the leaders of the Democratic Party, who interpreted McGovernism as pacifism rather than stunned passivism, and has led President Carter into a foreign policy dreamworld. Whether one finds the attitude admirable or not is irrelevant, but the consensus is not for example, "How dreadful we were to Castro!" but, "How could they spend all that dough and not get the gangster?"

Ever since Ambassador Andrew Young was unleashed at the United Nations and began denouncing everybody from the Swedes to Lyndon Johnson for "racism," sentiment has been quietly building up that this nonsense has to cease. No one in his right mind would confuse the United States with the City of God, but arguably we have the most free, least repressive mass society in human history.

President Carter probably won that squeaker last November because he seemed to articulate pride in the country, and a willingness to take the offensive in the world on behalf of our ideals. Instead, our policy lit fire and have sinned.

President Carter's announcement of his impending production (with my apologies to the late, great Bing Crosby) of "The Road to Munich" provided the catalyst to turn this widespread existential rage into a critical mass, a political nuke. From now on the burden of proof is on the president to demonstrate that his new SALT "breakthrough," his Middle East initiatives, his selective human rights positions, are not in conflict with American national interests.

Exemptions Proposed In Ending Saturday Mail

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service, considering an end to Saturday mail deliveries, may allow them to continue in some rural areas.

The provision would be aimed at parts of the country where weekly newspapers often are delivered on Saturday. Urban areas would probably not be eligible.

"One of the things that we have under consideration is to give rural areas that need Saturday delivery a local option," Deputy Postmaster General William Bolger said in an interview.

Bolger called the proposal "one of the major issues" under consideration in the event deliveries are cut to five days a week.

He said any cutback would not take place for at least several months because the Postal Rate Commission must hold hearings on any reduced service proposal, then issue an advisory opinion before the change could take place.

Cutting deliveries to five a week would save an estimated $412 million a year, which in turn would help hold down postal rate increases, the service says.

The Postal Service is now trying to sort out conflicting results from three polls designed to show whether the

So far, about 80 percent of the people responding to each poll say they could do without Saturday delivery. But two of those polls found less than half the respondents approved of the cutback.

"We are still studying the results and we have not made up our minds one way or the other," Bolger said.

In September, the House voted 377 to 0 to ask the Postal Service to continue six-day delivery. Legislation to prohibit delivery cutbacks, which has received committee approval, is expected to reach the House floor early next year.

COLEMAN YOUNG
"Bringing Home Bacon"

DETROIT MAYORAL VOTE TUESDAY

Browne Hunting For Black Support

By MARTY ILMER
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Race and crime are two major issues between two black men trying to win voter favor in the final days of the mayoral campaign in the nation's sixth-largest city.

Both candidates, favorite Coleman Young, the incumbent, and challenger Ernest Browne, are black. So are 55 percent of the registered voters.

Young, 59, became the city's first black mayor when he was elected in 1973 over a white candidate, Detroit's former police chief. He won the September mayoral primary in a landslide against Browne and two white candidates.

City councilman Browne, 51, garnered only about 5 percent of the black vote and 16 percent of the white vote in the primary. His backers admit a serious problem on Tuesday will be getting black support, not white.

"It's a problem within the black community," says Browne's wife, Evelyn.

Young, a former state senator who is known for his street-wise, flamboyant manner, at one point labeled Browne "the first black white hope." He later rescinded the comment and denied that he was appealing to voters on the basis of race.

The mayor's supporters range from Ford Motor Co. chairman Henry Ford II to financier Max Fisher and the city's biggest labor unions. Young's campaign coups included a visit from President Carter in October and boxer Muhammad Ali last week. His rallying cry is that he is "bringing home the bacon" — getting federal money to Detroit. The Rev. Albert Cleage, a black nationalist and pastor of the Black Christian Nationalist Shrine of the Black Madonna, is another Young supporter. He told parishioners that Young's association with rich white businessmen might seem like "a fancy way of playing Uncle Tom," but is actually a realistic way of trying to save the city.

Young contends major crimes in Detroit, sometimes known as "Murder City," are down about 21 percent in the last year. Browne contends crime is up since Young took office.

Young has kept in the campaign limelight the city's record on controlling youth gangs. The teen-aged hoodlums terrorized the city in the summer of 1976, after Young laid off 972 police officers, or nearly one-fifth of the force, to head off a fiscal crisis. All the laidoff officers were rehired by November 1976.

Browne has accused the mayor of building his political strength by helping wealthy industrialists develop downtown and ignoring the city's decaying neighborhoods. And Browne contends Young helped contribute to that urban blight by investing in several buildings and then giving them up.

Browne is supported by the Detroit Police Officers Association, the mainly white, 4,000-member police union that Young has called a "racist organization" in the past.

Most black churches backed Young in the primary, a fact which Browne says disappointed him. The challenger, a city councilman, has portrayed himself as a religious young man, while depicting Young as a playboy bachelor.

Some election observers say the split between candidates represents an historical difference between blacks in Detroit. Those on the west side, where Browne lives, were considered relatively upper class. Young comes from the "Black Bottom" area on the east side, one of the most depressed parts of the city.

Browne supporter Edwin Slater, 78, who is white and has been a practicing attorney here since 1933, says the main obstacle to a Browne victory over Young is "black racism."

ERNEST BROWNE
"Black White Hope?"

Was Michigan Mised On Lake Projects?

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A senior member of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission has charged that Minnesota officials repeatedly misled Wisconsin and Michigan about the use of federal funds for two commission projects under investigation at Duluth.

William R. Bechtel, the commission's federal co-chairman at the U.S. Commerce Department in Washington said that a 1973 Commerce Department audit of a disputed Duluth project was made available to Michael Pinter, who headed the federal commission's Minnesota office for former Gov. Wendell Anderson.

"Whether it (the audit) was carried any higher than that, we don't know," Bechtel said. "The investigation will seek to determine that."

The commission, which appropriates $7.2 million each year to stimulate jobs and small business development, is being investigated for possible misuse of more than $1 million in connection with two Duluth-area projects run by Donald G. Boyd, Brinson, Minn.

Boyd has denied any wrongdoing and says his records will substantiate the expenses being questioned.

Bechtel, who was Pinter's equivalent in the Wisconsin office for former Gov. Patrick Lucey until this year, said the Wisconsin and Michigan governors were not told the 1973 audit cast doubt on the use of Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission funds in Minnesota.

The audit claimed the use of more than $800,000 in funds provided for Duluth economic development programs could not be substantiated.

"We were told at various times by various people that an audit had been conducted and the projects passed the test," Bechtel said. "The staff people from Wisconsin and Michigan were repeatedly given the impression an audit was done and the results were favorable."

Bechtel also said the desire of Gov. Rudy Perpich to abolish the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission is a "majority view," with Wisconsin and Michigan wanting to keep the commission.

Perpich first expressed his disdain for the commission at a White House meeting with Presidential Assistant Jack Watson Oct. 1, and plans to give additional testimony against the commission to the Carter administration in February.

Bechtel said Carter will be reviewing carefully the eight regional economic development commissions as part of his executive reorganization, but said the staff has assured Bechtel the regional commission will have an active role in the future.

"Gov. Perpich wants the funds that go to this commission to be divided up and given directly to the governors to use as they choose," Bechtel said in a telephone interview.

"We discussed this with leaders of the congress and there is no way this is going to happen. It is not an option available to us."

Bechtel said the economic development funds will be lost completely if the regional commission is abolished.

"The commission probably will be destroyed if we don't have the enthusiastic support of the governors," Bechtel added.

A national study done by the Chicago-based Family Housing Bureau dispels a lot of myths about the buying of first homes. Here's a few:

MYTH: First-time home buyers have been driven out of the market by escalating costs. FACT: The survey showed that 44% of today's home buyers are first-time buyers.

MYTH: Young people cannot afford homes anymore. FACT: Eighty seven percent of first-time buyers are younger than 35 with the average age being 28.

MYTH: Costs for single-family homes have risen so sharply that most buyers are turning to multi-family solutions. FACT: Ninety percent of first-time buyers choose single family homes, 9% condos and only 4% choose multi-family homes.

MYTH: Most home buyers now spend more on mortgage payments than the recommended 1/3 of total income. FACT: One quarter of the current crop of first time buyers fall into the 1/3 rule of thumb category. Another 33% are even more conservative spending 20% or less of total income for shelter payment.

Gable Role Filled, But... Wanted: Scarlett O'Hara

Q: Any word on who'll play Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara in the sequel to "Gone With the Wind"? — L.W., Akron, Ohio.

A: Robert Redford is currently the odds-on favorite to play Clark Gable's role of Rhett, but no female name has yet emerged to portray Scarlett. The producers David Brown and Richard Zanuck, might repeat the original GWTW stunt of launching an international talent hunt for an unknown to play the part. Perhaps another Vivien Leigh is out there somewhere.

Q: How does Warren Beatty get along these days with his ex-girlfriend Julie Christie? Any chance they'll get back together? — T.A., Yonkers, N.Y.

A: They already are — if only professionally. Warren is directing his first movie, "Heaven Can Wait," starring Julie and Dyan Cannon. However, both Julie and Dyan ganged up on Warren and refused to take his direction. Beatty says it isn't so, but then he does have Buck Henry co-directing the film. Our guess is Henry is handling the two recalcitrant ladies.

Q: Happy Rockefeller always seems so popular, it must be great, going anywhere or doing anything she wants. Does she have a perpetual key to New York City? — R.J., Flushing, N.Y.

A: Not everywhere. Recently, Happy tried to wrangle permission to visit the underground construction site of a new subway tunnel being built just across the street from her Fifth Avenue apartment building. But when some of the older, more superstitious sandhogs heard about her planning to drop in, they barred her. It's the same superstition that regards any female who enters a mine as a jinx. Happy will have to wait until the subway's officially opened if she wants to see it!

SHORT TAKES: Actress Jill St. John, who used to be Henry Kissinger's favorite Hollywood date, is romancing with champion skier Brownie Barnes... The idea of a Beatty reunion just never dies. Latest is to have each of the four sing on separate tapes and then have them synchronized by Beatty George Harrison... Television fans will have a chance to see Barbara Stanwyck soon. Producer Ross Hunter is planning a TV movie featuring the former film star.

Q: What happened to comedian Betty Hutton's efforts to launch a new career after she was discovered cooking in a Rhode Island convent? — R.P., St. Louis.

A: Betty's trip to Hollywood was a disaster and she was rebuffed rather shabbily by a lot of movie people she considered old friends. But now, through the efforts of a former manager, she's being lined up for a part in a remake of Noel Coward's "Fallen Angels." Maybe this time her comeback will work.

Q: How does Katharine Hepburn stay so skinny? — R.A.H., Metuchen, N.J.

A: She doesn't seem to eat very much. At least that's the impression of a writer who visited Kate at her Manhattan townhouse and was the invited to lunch. The meal, taken in a gracious sitting room overlooking a garden, consisted of homemade pea soup and tiny square crackers, and that was it! The pea soup was delicious.

Q: How are Barbara and Frank Sinatra getting on? Is that marriage still healthy? — A.P., Miami.

A: Certainly seems to be, particularly if lavish presents are any indicator. Sinatra flew Los Angeles jeweler Frances Klein and her husband across the country to New York to show Barbara some baubles. He bought her two necklaces she liked, one for $35,000 and another for $3,000.

Now See Here! BY BERT BACHARACH

FADED PHRASES: "He's her knight in shining armor." "You look like a ragamuffin" and "He's slower than molasses in January"... 3-See, interview with Christ Bustin, proprietor of Sea Port of the Aegean, NYC, which is decorated with valuable paintings and sculptures: "Unlike oysters, art is always in season"... Don De Natale, of the film "Roseland," traced his lineage to 11th century Rome, where he has rights to the title of marquis. (But instead of a marquis on his name, he prefers his name on a theater marquee!)... Phyllis Diller has just solved her Christmas gift problem. She's giving her mother-in-law a jump suit — and a plane ticket to New York... Sandwich Favorite of co-producer Maxine ("Grease") Fox: Turkey, bacon, tomato — between two slices of lettuce. (No bread!)... 90-year-old George Abbot danced four hours steady on a recent evening at Roseland — and didn't sit once!... Memo to Women's Lib: Elfriede Pirzell is being named the new matron-person at the Stage Deli... Georgia Brown is headlining at B'way in "Side By Side By Soundheim." (Ain't she sweet!)... HELPFUL HINTS: Blond stains on shirt collars from shaving can be removed best if ammonia is applied to the spots before shirts are laundered... A few cloves in the corners of your kitchen shelves and cupboard should discourage ants.

Black 'Cinderella'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You remember the story: Cinderella goes to the Sugar Hill Ball in a limo, meets the dashing Prince and loses her sneaker rushing out at midnight. You don't? Well, you will in the all-black musical version, called "Cindy," that ABC airs in December. It stars newcomer Charlene Woodard as the girl from Harlem. The production is being readied by James L. Brooks, Stan Daniels, David Davis and Ed Weinberger, the team largely responsible for "Rhoda," "Phyllis" and the Mary Tyler Moore and Bob Newhart shows.

Nabors Returns To TV

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Nabors returns to television in January with a syndicated variety show... Comedian Jackie Mason stars in a half-hour comedy pilot for CBS... Alan Arkin's 9-year-old son, Tony Arkin, makes his acting debut as the voice of Bubba in NBC's animated version of Arkin's book, "The Learning Condition"... Burgess Meredith joins stars Goldie Hawn and Chevy Chase in Paramount's "Foul Play"... Rene Auberjonois has been signed for "Eyes," now in production starring Faye Dunaway and Tommy Lee Jones.

More For 'Maverick'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Garner is coming back to television as "Maverick." Veteran screenwriter James Lee Barrett has been signed by Warner Bros. Television to write a two-hour movie based on the long-in-check 1950s Western series for NBC.

She'll Play A Waitress

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alice Faye is returning to the screen in her first singing role since 1962 in "Lassie, My Lassie." She last sang in "State Fair," but has been virtually out of movies since 1945 when she starred in "Fallen Angel." She had been a star since 1931. Miss Faye plays a waitress in the film, which also stars James Stewart, Mickey Rooney, Stephanie Zimbalist and Pernell Roberts.

Governor's Son Debuts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Brandon plays a radio station manager in Universal's "F.M." Martin Mull, host of the TV spoof "Fernwood 2 Night," plays a zany disc jockey... John Dukakis, son of Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis, makes his movie debut in "Jaws 2"... Ernest Borgnine stars in NBC's "The Ghost of Flight 401," based on the crash of an airliner in the Everglades... Joanne Woodward will star in a two-hour version of "Lucky Chatterley's Lover" for NBC to be made in England next year.

THE 1978 AMC CONCORD D/L. NOW YOU DON'T HAVE TO PAY EXTRA FOR THE LUXURY OF A LUXURY COMPACT.

Big car luxury in a sleek, compact size.

The Concord D/L's luxury has been slimmed and toned onto a trim 108-inch wheelbase.

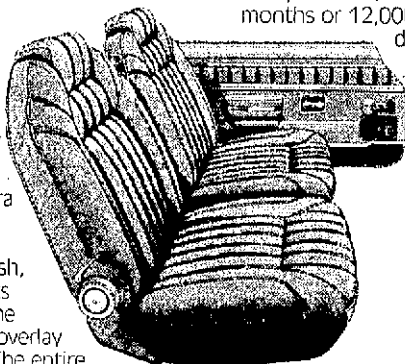

The elegant exterior features a formal Landau vinyl roof with opera windows, white sidewall tires with color-keyed wheel covers, color-keyed side scuff moldings, bumper nerfing strips and a distinctive hood ornament. Just a few of the standard features that add to Concord D/L's striking appearance.

And, as you would expect of such a luxurious car, the ride is uncommonly smooth and quiet.

Interiors that make you feel good inside.

Seated inside a Concord D/L, you'd never believe it was a low-priced compact car. It's loaded with luxurious "extras" at no extra cost.

There's crushed velour upholstery throughout, with plush, cut-pile carpeting. The front seats recline individually. The handsome wood-grained instrument panel overlay houses an electric digital clock. The entire passenger compartment is shielded from road noises by an Extra Quiet Insulation package. Even the trunk and spare tire cover are carpeted.

Values that make you feel good all over.

What makes it even more amazing is the outstanding value Concord D/L offers for the money. Because all the "extras" just mentioned are included at no extra cost. And the price is as modest as the car is luxurious.

You also get AMC's exclusive BUYER PROTECTION PLAN*, with the only full 12 month/12,000 mile warranty. That means AMC will fix, or replace free any part, except tires, for 12 months or 12,000 miles whether the part is defective, or just plain wears out under normal use and service.

*Buyer Protection Plan is a full 12 month/12,000 mile warranty.

FOG AT 37,000 FEET

Airlines Spoken Here

By IUGA A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
OVER DENVER (AP) — In case nobody has noticed, the airline in-flight magazines are going in for some very uplifting literature these days.

Now on a cross-country hop or even the milk run out of Scottsbluff, Neb., or aboard the Boston shuttle you can dip into best sellers like Walker Percy's "Lancelotti," John Cheever's "Falconer" and Phil Caputo's "A Rumor of War" instead of memorizing that little plastic card telling where the exits are.

So far, none of the jet set culture custodians has dared to break any new literary contrails with an offering like Erica Jong's "Fear of Flying" or Piers Paul Read's "Alive: the Story of Andes Survivors," in which the passenger list gets confused with the menu, but there is real hope for the English language at 37,000 feet.

After years of heavy turbulence on the lips of stewards making cabin announcements, the mother tongue at last may be ticketed, as they say aloft, for friendlier skies and not have to deplane from the rear.

Both "ticketed" (as in "are you ticketed?") and "deplane" failed to make the latest edition of the Oxford English Dictionary, but they are hardly the outer abominations of airline prose.

Just this morning as we were taxiing (to cite another noun converted to a verb at great expense by the aircraft industry) onto the runway, the captain came on the horn to wish us good morning and announce: "This is United's Flight 98 non-stop to Los Angeles. If there is anyone aboard not going to Los Angeles, this might be an excellent opportunity to deplane."

Meaning, I suppose, that it could get a bit dicey deplaning from the rear or wherever when we climbed out over Long Island Sound to our cruising altitude.

"Are you lunching with us today?" cooed a sweet young thing, guffawing by my side in the aisle in a curtsy borrowed from "The King and I." Have you noticed how courtly cabin crews have become lately, both in gestures and lingo, as the competition for customers gets tougher up there? Now where else did she think I'd be lunching at 27,000 feet over Lake Erie?

The question might be valid on Freddie Laker's no frills, brown bag airline or maybe aboard Air Syria during the Ramadan fast but there wasn't much choice aboard this "non-stopper," as the Flight Services Supervisor — the head stewardess in drag — kept calling our flight.

Somewhere west of the wide Missouri ("Down there on your left," the captain advised those of us who might be inclined to look skyward for the mighty river), the seatbelt sign came on "purely as a routine precaution" on account of what was deemed "light turbulence" was causing pots and pans to rattle in the galley closets, overhead luggage compartments to burst open and one tray of cocktails to seek a higher altitude.

"Our light turbulence unfortunately is accelerating to normal turbulence and we now have head winds," the captain came on again in his normal May Day voice. "So will the flight staff please pick up the cabin and resume their seats?"

Pick up the cabin? Did that include the guy who had fallen out of the John?

A new glintick on some airlines these days, "as part of our audio program," permits passengers to eavesdrop on conversations between the flight deck and the tower on approach. There the prose style can get very dramatic. It sometimes beats the in-flight movie.

"United 98, take runway four, 275 degrees and taxi to Gate 43."

"What's he doing down there? Who is that? What's his head-"

"That's Northwest 64. We're using parallel runways today."

"Well, you might have said, sir," suggested our cool captain with just a bit of pique trailing sparks from beneath his peaked cap. Then he got back on the blower and in an emotional farewell address thanked us for choosing his airline over all the others in the world. Dickens doing a deathbed number couldn't have phrased it more poignantly.

One felt guilty for passing up Air Ghana, Cathay Pacific and Icelandic Air and all the befit others to fly into Los Angeles or Scottsbluff or wherever today, but we were grateful for his joy at having us aboard. Gratitude is such a rare commodity in the world today, these of us deplaning through the forward door could hardly keep our passions in check acknowledging the stewards' tender adieux and muffled sobs as we passed out into the terminal area to join the unticketed masses in the baggage recovery area.

But for airline rhetoric at its most reverberant, nothing has shaken me to the soles of my earth shoes like the question posed by a drawing, magnolia-scented young thing at a check-in counter in New Orleans: "Sir, would you care to pick your seat on the plane?"

I don't know what they do south of the Mason Dixon line, M'arn, but up North we have some standards of privacy. Begger and out.

CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT
PHASE 1 IMPROVEMENTS
CITY OF BUCHANAN

JOHN G. YERINGTON CONCRETE CO.

EASEMENTS STILL NEEDED: Although workmen from John G. Yerington Concrete Co., Benton Harbor, installed sign proclaiming beginning of Phase I of Buchanan's proposed downtown development, several easements from East Front Street store owners are still needed. Project to cost $297,531 ($275,000 in federal funds) is to be bordered by East Front, Main, and East Dewey Streets and Red Bud Trail. Involved are redesigning parking lot behind stores on north side of East Front; planting trees, installing park benches; creating pedestrian walkway from alley running from East Front to back parking lot; installing sidewalk along rear of stores; opening up section of McCoy's Creek near lot, and putting electrical wires behind stores underground. Mayor Richard Gault has expressed hope that all easements can be obtained and the city is working to settle its differences with certain store owners. (Staff photo)

VALUES OF INNER LIFE

Magazine Aims At All Women

By STRAT DOUTHAT
Associated Press Writer

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Mimi Ralston sat on a couch in the cluttered office at Appalachian Press one day last week, stroking a white dove and searching for just the right words with which to describe her new bi-monthly magazine.

At her feet, unmolested, a gray kitten chased its tail.

Mimi's hands suddenly deserted the dove and fluttered into the air. Then, with her long fingers extended, she began shaping her words.

"We're trying to promote women's consciousness," she said, finally, the words coming in a torrent. "I see it in terms of a public effort. If it helps just one woman become more aware of herself as a person, then all of life is enhanced."

"MAW is aimed at women all across the spectrum. From the very beginning, we've tried to solicit interested, creative women who will share their inner feelings and experiences; we've tried to create something that people will keep, something that will command a faith in the values of the inner life."

The "very beginning," for MAW — an acronym for Magazine of Appalachian Women — was just last month. Yet, already, the magazine has become something of a collector's item.

"We printed 2,000 copies and have just one copy left. But, of course, we haven't gotten the mislaid copies of the first issue back from the distributors, either," Mimi said, laughing.

By now, the dove had climbed to Mimi's shoulder and was grooming her long, blonde hair. The cat, meanwhile, had climbed to her lap.

But now that the dove had burst, Mimi paid little attention to her feathery and furry friends.

"I came here in 1974 with Paul," she said, referring to her husband, Paul Salstrom. "He had been living on a farm in Lincoln County and we met in a bookstore when he returned home to Iowa."

"We stayed here for two years and then left West Virginia last year. We spent some time in Minnesota helping put out a magazine up there but when I left Huntington I was thinking already of a magazine for Appalachian women. I had clearly seen the need. So, when we returned last spring, I took a crash course in printing at Huntington East High School."

The first issue of MAW was immediately controversial, not so much because of the contents as because of the name. Mimi received several letters from irate women who felt MAW evoked an image of a mindless druder.

She held her ground, however, and replied to the critics in a column in which she said she saw the name evoking images of strength and perseverance. These were the qualities, she said, that Appalachian women had depended on to survive amid the harsh demands of life in the hills.

The magazine reflects this feeling. The cover of the first issue was a symbolic photograph of a weathered door, presumably one that led to a world of different values for women. The second issue, which came out last week, has a toddler on the cover. Across the child's face, in red letters, is the legend "Women in Rebellion — the Conquest of Midwives."

The current issue has a women's health theme and contains articles about midwives, mental health for Appalachian women and a primer on women's health. Also included are two pieces of fiction, several poems — including works by Kentucky poet Lillie Chaffin — a sensitive photo essay and various other articles and columns, including one on rug braiding.

With one exception, all the articles and stories are by Appalachian women. And the magazine staff also is completely female, with the exception of Salstrom, who formerly edited the Green Revolution.

"Right now, Paul handles the production end and some of the layout," Mimi said. "But eventually, I hope to free him to pursue his own creative interests. Frankly, I'm hoping for an all-woman staff but that's somewhere down the road right now."

She lay back on the couch for a moment. Then her hands began shaping more words.

"I'm exhausted," she said, slowly this time. "Putting out this magazine has been completely draining. It's ... it's like having 10 children, all at once."

Work-To-5:30 Ruling Brews Tempest At FCC

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a tempest brewing in one of the topest of the bureaucracy, and it is worth noting for what it says about the government President Carter is trying to reorganize.

The new boss of the Federal Communications Commission has decided that the agency should be open until 5:30 p.m. each day, so that its hours will coincide at least roughly with those of the people who have business there.

That hardly seemed revolutionary to FCC Chairman Charles D. Ferris, who figured that there should be people around to answer the telephone after 4:30 in the afternoon.

Effective on Nov. 11, there will be.

But not without a hassle, since that means a change in working hours for many of the 1,500 people who work at the commission.

After days of grumbling, a delegation from the Employee Representation Board spent 30 minutes with Ferris last Wednesday, complaining about the change. They told him that an employee survey showed overwhelming opposition to the shift in working hours.

He told them that the agency is supposed to serve the public, even if it is inconvenient.

As Ferris put it in a thoroughly bureaucratic memo, he wants FCC hours "to interface with the business, professional and consumer communities we are charged by law to work with, and thus to provide better services to them."

In other words, he figures there ought to be somebody around to take calls and transact business after 4:30 in the afternoon. Under the current schedule, there's no answer at the FCC switchboard after that hour.

There are employee complaints that the change will hurt carpools, make it harder to find parking places and disrupt child care arrangements. One woman complained she'd miss her favorite television program if she had to work until 5:30.

Actually, she may be able to time in anyhow. FCC employees have an hour's leeway on starting times, under a flexible time arrangement. So a good many of them will be able to stick to the 8-4:30 timetable if they want, and if their supervisors approve. And Ferris has told his section chiefs that they should make adjustments wherever they can to accommodate the needs of the employees.

Ferris doesn't set the hours alone; the commission does that. But after 14 years as a top aide to Senate and then House Democratic leaders, he knows enough to count votes in advance. He got approval from a commission majority before he ordered the change.

He's still surprised at all the fuss over what seemed to him a logical move. "Our own convenience isn't our primary reason for being here," he said.

SILENT ACTRESS DIES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Silent screen actress Florence Vidor, once married to director King Vidor and then to violinist Jascha Heifetz, has died at age 82.

Grand Canyon Scene Of Crime

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP) — The natural wonder of the Grand Canyon makes it the most popular national park in the country, attracting 3.2 million visitors a year. But not all are there for the view.

Along with the throngs who come to stand awestruck at the canyon's rim or to hike the grueling trails to the Colorado River below, the canyon draws dope peddlers, thieves and killers.

Although the name — Grand Canyon — conjures as much an image of isolation and raw nature as anything on earth, its rims are nearly urbanized by visitors. On some days in July, which is the busiest month at the canyon, as many as 20,000 people visit.

The urbanization is having its effects. Thirteen years ago, there were 94 criminal cases handled in state and federal courts here. In 1976, the number hit 1,000 and it is going higher this year, law enforcement officials report.

Most of the crime involves break-ins, shoplifting and drug possession. But there are more serious occurrences as well. Last January, for example, Michael A. Sherman and his wife Charlotte, both 27, were found dead, shot through the head at Powell Point, less than one mile from the main village here.

The Shermans were traveling cross country and were described as "typical tourists" getting a look at the canyon. The motive was robbery, authorities said, although the case has not been solved.

Last year, 198 persons were arrested for investigation of shoplifting and there were 49 larcenies and 14 burglaries reported.

Hundreds of visitors report thefts from their cars and motel and cabin rooms. Backpackers on the trails and in the campsites of the huge gorge report that their gear is stolen.

One day this summer, Park Service officials said, about 20 visitors reported that cameras were missing from their cars. Most of the equipment was recovered later in Eugene, Ore., and part of the evidence was film in the cameras with pictures of the canyon.

A force of 34 Park Service rangers patrols the canyon during the busy summer, while half as many are on duty in the winter months. All are trained as law enforcement officers, says Chief Ranger Gary Kuiper.

"You have to be ready for almost anything," Kuiper says. The rangers, who enforce Park Service rules and federal laws, are assisted by a U.S. magistrate here. In addition, a Coconino County sheriff's deputy is assigned here full time.

The Civilian Conservation Corps, a depression-era public works program, left its mark at the canyon in the form of a well-used jail. Last year, officials say, 184 persons were held in its single cell.

Also within the realm of the canyon's law enforcement officers is traffic control. Traffic violations are committed frequently by motorists too busy gawking at the canyon to pay attention to the road, officials say.

In 1976, officers issued 1,231 traffic warnings, and there were 187 traffic collisions, including one in which a person was killed.

The Park Service officers have radar to detect speeders and a terminal linked to a nationwide computer network that provides information on criminal suspects.

Big Last Half Silences Boos

Kane Able Lion Runner

By LARRY PALADINO

AP Sports Writer

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The boos from impatient Detroit Lions fans have come to an abrupt halt — at least for now.

The Lions deployed a fine defense that limited San Diego to 111 yards rushing and 118 passing, but credit for Sunday's 20-0 National Football League victory belongs to rookie halfback Rick Kane.

The 5-foot-11, 200 pound Kane, starting in place of injured Dexter Bussey, had his best day as a pro. The third-round draft choice from San Jose State — where he was under the tutelage of current Michigan State coach Darryl Rogers — rushed for 105 yards and two touchdowns.

"I was nauseated before the game and felt really sick," Kane said, "but I got a shot in the second half and that seemed to cure me."

He leaped over from the 2-yard line with five minutes left in the third quarter for the game's first points. It ended a 59-yard, 13-play drive that consumed seven minutes.

His other TD, five minutes into the final period, came on a vault from the 1-yard line. He rushed for 55 of Detroit's 70 yards in the drive, including a 35-yard burst.

Fullback Mary Hubbard completed the scoring with a 1-yard plunge with live minutes left soon after Eddie Payton returned a punt 37 yards to the Charger 40, one of several sparkling runbacks for the brother of Chicago star Walter Payton.

The shutout was the first by the Lions since Oct. 28, 1973 when they whitewashed Green Bay 34-0.

"Our offense was impotent," said San Diego coach Tommy Prothro, whose Chargers were blanked four times last season. "I really thought we were going to win this one," he said. Then, in somewhat of a contradiction, he added, "But I didn't have a good feeling about it."

The teams squared their records at 4-4. Both still have playoff aspirations.

"Ho, hum. Another dull game," Detroit coach Tommy Hudspeth said.

He was being facetious, but he wasn't far from wrong.

Detroit quarterback Greg Landry threw only seven passes, completing five for a mere 67 yards. He passed just once in the second half.

"We did what we wanted to do," Hudspeth said. "The way they were playing defense we felt we could run on them. . . . When you keep doing it (running) so long it gets tiring on one side. I asked the players and they thought it was San Diego that would tire first."

Former Lion Bill Munson, who took over at quarterback for San Diego in the third quarter when James Harris couldn't generate the offense, said: "We just couldn't get anything going out there today. I was really disappointed in how we played as a team."

Although Prothro said Munson "performed very well," he said Harris "is still our No. 1 quarterback."

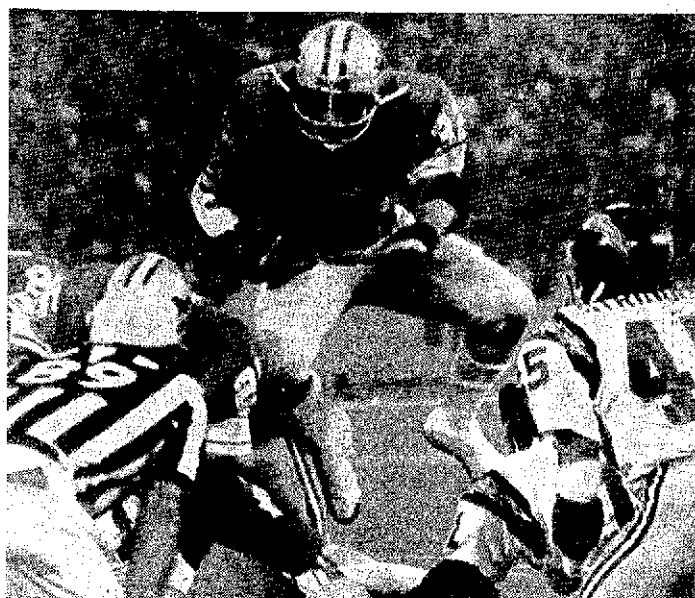

Kane is Detroit's No. 1 halfback, for a while, anyway. Bussey is expected to miss a couple more games with a severe ankle sprain.

The Lions had suffered consecutive losses of 25-7 at San Francisco and 37-0 at Dallas. That's why they were greeted with loud booing from the Pontiac Silverdome crowd of 72,589 the moment they took the field.

"There's a lot more confidence here than two hours ago," Landry said. "That's what we set out to do — regain our confidence."

Linebacker Charlie Weaver played a superb game for Detroit with eight tackles, including two sacks. He broke up one pass and caused a fumble.

Michigan Machine
Crushes Wildcats

By LARRY PALADINO

AP Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Although Michigan crushed Northwestern 63-20 Saturday, Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann will likely be more interested in the "20" than the "63" when he views the films.

Coach Bo Schembechler of Michigan had said Northwestern had a poor passing attack.

Statistics

Yet the witless Wildcats moved the ball well through the air against the Wolverines.

That should be encouraging to freshman passing sensation Herrmann when sixth-ranked Michigan visits Purdue this Saturday. He needs just 354 air yards to become the Big Ten's top single-season passer.

Michigan, 8-4 overall and 5-1 in the conference, suffered its only regular season loss last year against the Boilermakers.

"We'll be pointedly ready for next week," Schembechler said somewhat vengefully. "We make no bones about it. We have been pointing to our final two games all year."

The following week Michigan plays at home in its annual duel against archrival Ohio State, the game almost assuredly deciding the conference title and Rose Bowl representative.

"It will be Michigan's quickness vs. Ohio's strength," said Northwestern coach John Pont. "They are totally different football teams and it'll be a different game than in the past. While the games have usually been defensive, this time the key will be (Rod) Gerald against (Rick) Leach."

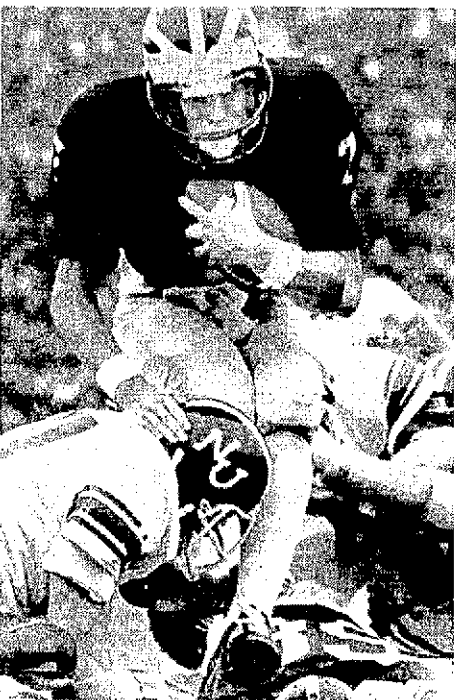

Leach is Michigan's team record-setting quarterback, while Gerald is his counterpart for the Buckeyes.

Leach broke open a modest 14-7 halftime lead against Northwestern with touchdown runs of 21 and 4 yards in the third quarter, followed by TD passes of 26 yards to freshman Stanley Edward and 81 yards to Ralph Clayton.

The Wildcats had stunned Michigan by taking a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a quarterback sneak by Scott Stratski. He set up the score with a 68-yard bomb to Mark Bailey to the 2-yard line.

Stratski threw two more TD passes in the final period. (See MICHIGAN Page 22)

Lakers Nip Mustangs To Cap Unbeaten Year

By PAUL MORGAN

Staff Sports Writer

Lake Michigan Catholic capped its first unbeaten football season in a more exciting way than Coach Terry Rose would have liked Saturday night.

Phil Banks went over from the 3-yard line with 7:25 left in the game to give the Lakers a hard-fought 6-3 win over stubborn River Valley at Dickinson Stadium in a non-league game.

The victory gives the Lakers a 4-0 record and puts them in the Class C Quarterfinals Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Housenman Field in Grand Rapids against unbeaten Cassopolis, ranked first in the Class C AP poll. It was a rougher game than most expected from the Mustangs.

tangs, who wound up the season at 1-8. They stopped the Red Arrow champs cold twice inside the 10-yard line on the Lakers' first possessions of the game. Mark Kramir intercepted a pass to stop the second drive.

"I think I had the kids so up for the game that when we drove the field and didn't score either time, they started having second thoughts about themselves," commented Rose, who also experienced his first unbeaten season in 12 years as a head coach. "They knew they could drive, but they couldn't execute."

Midway through the third quarter, River Valley's Wally Cross looked to have booted Catholic's unbeaten season, playoff hopes and second place rating in the Class C poll out the window when he kicked a

The Lakers got the ball back with 10:29 left in the game at their own 37-yard line. They needed off one first down, then two passes fell incomplete and it looked like Catholic would be its own worst enemy again.

On a crucial third and 10, Banks blew up the middle for a 20-yard gain to swing the momentum to the Lakers. Ron Maddux swept around right end for 12 and three plays later, Banks scored.

Rose agreed that his Lakers might have been looking for the pass too much after Galien's Matt Kozel riddled them last week. "Our defense was so tight that it was afraid to make an error," Rose stated.

"We were giving them the inside routes. We also felt Jody White was as good a passer as Matt."

"We showed a lot of poise and character out there," declared River Valley Head Coach Tom Wilcox. "We're not many in numbers, but these kids have a lot of heart."

Banks, Maddux and Bill Couvelis proved to have too much outside speed for River Valley. "We didn't hit outside like we could have," Wilcox said. "Our big problem was that we couldn't sustain a drive and pick up their gaps. We also don't have the outside speed."

When the Mustangs really needed a drive, Laker John Spear came up with the biggest play of the game. With a fourth and 8 at midfield, White threw into the middle and Spear picked off the pass at the 40-yard line and returned it 20 yards with 3:52 left in the game.

It turned out to be crucial for two reasons — Catholic never gave the ball back and there were only 10 men on the field at the time of the pass.

"We were mixed up because we didn't know if they were going to punt or not," stated Rose. "Two men ran off the field and nobody went back in."

Cross, who does the Mustangs' punting, starts at a receiver slot so the Lakers didn't know if a kick was forthcoming until River Valley came up to the line.

Spear leads the Lakers with five pass interceptions. The defense also did a sterling job against the rush, giving up just 2.6 yards per carry. Catholic's offense countered that with a 5.3 yards per rush average.

Couvelis led the game's runners with 97 yards on 17 carries. Banks added 67 on 12 totes and Maddux had 46 yards.

"Maybe a tough game like this will help us prepare for Cassopolis," Rose added. "They do everything right."

Bad Bears Massacred By Explosive Oilers, 47-0

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's 47-0 massacre of Chicago in a National Football League game Sunday brimmed over with the stuff that dreams are made of.

Kenny Burroughs, Houston's cat-quick wide receiver, normally sees single coverage only in his dreams.

As for the Bears, the whole game was a nightmare.

Burroughs rubbed his eyes in disbelief and pinched himself to be sure he was awake before hauling in touchdown bombs of 85 and 43 yards from Dan Pastorini as the Oilers returned the big play to an offense that had long been given up for dead.

The victory, which ended a three-game losing streak, evened Houston's record at 4-4 and kept them in the running for the American Football Conference's Central Division title. Chicago fell to 3-5.

The speedy 6-foot-3 Burroughs beat the single coverage of 5-foot-8 Bear defensive back Virgil Livers on both touchdowns.

"I don't know what they were doing but I appreciated it," said Burroughs, who finished the game with six receptions for 180 yards. "I haven't seen that much single coverage in three or four years."

Burroughs' 85-yarder was the first of two first-half Houston explosions that helped the Oilers to a 17-0 halftime lead. The other was Billy Johnson's 61-yard end around for a touchdown. Tom Fritsch kicked a 26-yard field goal in the first quarter.

Referring to Burroughs' 85-yard TD, Oiler Coach Bum Phillips said "Livers couldn't have caught Kenny with a dip net."

The Oilers drove for their first touchdown of the third quarter, climaxed by Don Hardeman's one-yard plunge, before the razzle dazzle started again. Burroughs scooped up a low pass from Pastorini for his 43-yard score in the third period.

"Man-to-man on Kenny?" asked Pastorini, who hit 11 of 18 passes for 246 yards and the two TDs. "I'll take that any day. We had to open up and, with the protection I had today, we could do it. My protection was better than any I've seen in professional football."

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Gregg Bingham picked up a fumble by Walter Payton and ran 31 yards for his first touchdown since high school.

Defensive end James Young tackled Bear quarterback Mike Phipps in the end zone and on the ensuing free kick, Johnson ran 73 yards for the final touchdown with 5:24 left in the game.

Chicago retreated to its dressing room in complete shock.

"I hope this is a once in a lifetime experience," said safety Gary Frank. "You can use any word you want to describe it but we just got dominated."

Bear coach Jack Pardee, who agonized through his worst defeat as an NFL coach, said flatly "It was the worst game I have ever been associated with in any form. We were humbled enough."

Hot Irish Wreck Georgia Tech, 69-14

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Notre Dame didn't really try to run up the score on Georgia Tech. It just worked out that way in an almost embarrassingly easy 69-14 victory on Saturday.

"I can't blame the Notre Dame players for trying to score, because that's what they are supposed to do," said a dejected Georgia Tech Coach Pepper Rodgers, whose Yellow Jackets suffered their worst defeat since a 73-0 loss to Clemson in 1903.

"I don't know what to say to a team after a loss like this," Rodgers mused. "I guess all I can tell them is that there will be another day."

The most recent drubbing of nearly similar proportions was also by Notre Dame in a 55-13 rout in 1943. And Saturday's lusing margin of 55 points is exceeded in Georgia Tech's history only by the 73-0 loss to Clemson and a 94-0 shutout by Auburn in 1894.

Actually, in Saturday's game, the No. 1 Irish offensive unit scored only 42 points. The No. 2 offense added 13 points, and the No. 3 unit mopped up with another 14 points.

But it was the Irish defense that held the Yellow Jackets in check with only 84 yards on the ground. Georgia Tech, now 5-4, had been the nation's No. 3 rushing team going into the game, averaging 314 yards per contest.

"The Notre Dame defense against the rush was terrific," Rodgers said. "Ross Browner and Willie Fry were especially terrific, but they were really good when they were freshmen anyway."

Browner and Fry, senior defensive ends and co-captains, combined for 27 tackles as the Irish, now 7-1, almost completely shut off the Yellow Jackets' offense.

"We played a concentrated team defense," Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine said. "Our tackles keyed on the Tech fullback. If he didn't have the ball they went after whoever did have it."

Georgia Tech managed just eight first downs compared with 34 for Notre Dame, which racked up 677 yards total offense. Junior quarterback Joe Montana passed for a career-high 273 yards and three touchdowns, scored another and ran for a two-point conversion. Sophomore Vagos Ferguson and freshman Jim Stone also ran for two touchdowns apiece.

"I'm very pleased with our whole team. We are getting better each week," said Devine, whose Irish have totaled 161 points in their last three games.

After last year's 23-14 loss to the Yellow Jackets, Devine said

Bombs, Field Goals Aid Spartan Rout

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Hans Nielsen of Michigan State won his kicking duel with Minnesota's Paul Rogind and the Spartans turned three big offensive plays into a one-sided victory over the Gophers.

Nielsen kicked three field goals without a miss, including a 52-yarder which broke a 10-10 tie in the fourth quarter, while quarterback Ed Smith and flanker Kirk Gibson collaborated on two long scoring passes as the Spartans whipped the Gophers 29-10 Saturday.

But Coach Darryl Rogers credited a 61-yard run by tailback Leroy McGee with igniting the Spartan offense late in the first half, when the Gophers had a 10-14 lead.

"It looked pretty bleak until Leroy McGee got a big pop," said Rogers. "That put us back into the game."

Rogind had just missed a 38-yard field goal attempt and the Spartans took over on their own 20-yard line with 1:50 to play in the half. McGee broke open up the middle and raked 61 yards to the Minnesota 15.

Nielsen put the Spartans back in contention 10-3 with a 34-yard field goal just before the half.

"We threw the ball better in the second half," Rogers noted.

The Gopher secondary painfully noted the second-half accuracy of quarterback Smith, who completed only two of eight passes before intermission.

He hit 7 of 10 in the second half, including scoring strikes of 51 and 85 yards to flanker Gibson, who had sat out the last two games with a heel injury.

Gibson cut to his right after grabbing a short pass from Smith and outraced three Gopher defenders down the sidelines for a 51-yard scoring play in the third quarter.

Nielsen broke the tie early in the final quarter with his 52-yard kick which barely cleared the crossbar and Smith and Gibson later teamed up on the third longest pass play in Michigan State history, which clinched the outcome.

Not content with a 13-10 lead, Smith dropped back to near his goal line and found Gibson speeding past Minnesota defender Bobby Webster for the 85-yard passing play.

Nielsen later kicked a 44-yard field goal and reserve tailback Steve Smith ran 15 yards for a touchdown to turn it into a rout.

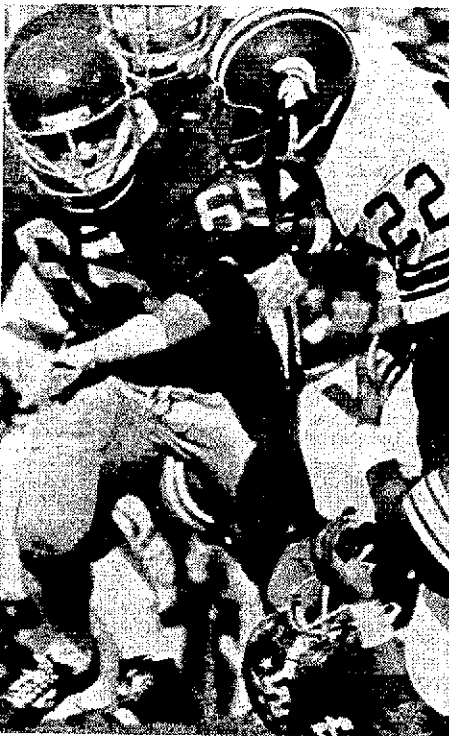

The Spartans, with a 6-3-1 season record, hold down third place in the Big Ten with a 4-1-1 mark. Minnesota, losing at home for the first time this season, slipped to 2-4 in the conference and 5-4 overall.

"This was one of the toughest coaching losses I have been through," said Minnesota's Cal Stull, who saw his team lose their second straight game in the fourth quarter following their astounding 10-0 upset of Michigan two weeks earlier.

Rogind kicked a 23-yard field goal after the Gophers put on their only sustained drive of the game following the opening kickoff. A 45-yard punt return by Webster set up a 2-yard touchdown run by Kent Kitzmann in the second quarter.

"I never coached a game with as many penalties," said Stull. "It's not the reason we lost. Michigan State played better than we did."

The Gophers play at Illinois this Saturday while the Spartans host winless Northwestern.

although they came against reserves. The first was a 28-yarder to Todd Sheets and the other an 8-yard toss deflected to Bailey.

Michigan scored two touchdowns in the second quarter, tailback Harlan Huckleby going over from four yards out and tight end Gene Johnson pouncing on teammate Russell Davis' fumble in the end zone.

Reserves, who played well, accounted for three Wolverines TDs in the final period. Sophomore fullback Lawrence Reid scored on a 19-yard run, senior tailback Mike Smith on a battering 15-yard burst and freshman Alan Mitchell on a 33-yard pass from third-string quarterback John Wampler.

"Our defense was atrocious against the option," said Punt, whose team fell to 0-7 in the league and 0-9 overall.

Schembechler said the game "was especially good" for his reserves, who haven't had much playing time this year.

LMC Girls Split In Volleyball

DEARBORN — Lake Michigan College's girls volleyball team split a pair of matches at Henry Ford Community College here Saturday.

The Indians beat Ohio State 15-3, 15-12 but lost to the host school 15-11, 15-8.

Leading servers were Mary Huff and Janet Hess with 12 each and Deb Landin added right. Huff was the team's top hitter with 14, Karen Aulis contributed seven and Landin six.

LMC is now 27-7 on the season with two of its losses coming from Henry Ford.

The Indians will close out their regular season with two home matches Tuesday at 7 p.m. It will be Parents' Night against Jackson and Kalamazoo Valley.

Tigers End Loss Streak, Edge Past Lancers, 12-7

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer
Benton Harbor likes to go out on a winner!

The Tigers ended their season with a victory for the sixth consecutive year by stymieing Lakeshore 12-7 Saturday afternoon at Lancer Stadium before a crowd estimated at 3,500.

In the process Benton Harbor broke a seven-game losing streak while sweeping the four-game series with the Lancers.

Defense has been a bright spot for the Tigers in an otherwise disappointing 2-7 final season record. And that was aptly demonstrated Saturday.

Paul Bergan's Tigers were about as stingy as Scrooge on defense, limiting the Lancers to 72 yards total offense, only 14 and two first downs in the last half. Lakeshore could only sustain one drive all day as its touchdown came on an 80-yard pass interception by Paul Freer with 4:45 left in the non-league tussle.

"Our defense has played well all year," bubbled Bergan. "All our seniors on defense really played well, guys like Edlin Washington, Richard Yarborough and Norman Doyle. And Eddie Stokes (who had an interception) just played tremendous football. I think he's a major college prospect. He's a natural football player and he's been our team leader...he kept this team together."

While the airtight Harbor defense was holding Lakeshore to 72 yards, the Tiger offense piled up 316 yards while getting touchdowns from Andrew Hurst on a 15-yard pass from Neill Kirkwood and a 3-yard run by Duane Tillman. The gutsy Lakeshore defense also held the Tigers back at the Lancer six, four and nine-yard lines.

"I felt we dominated the game...we should have scored two or three more times down there," voiced Bergan. "I thought both teams played real well. It was a hard-hitting game."

"Yes, the big difference was they dominated the line of scrimmage," noted Lakeshore Coach Dave Tipping. "We just couldn't sustain anything in the game. Benton Harbor is big and quick and they did a lot of stunting. They also keyed on Freer all day."

"I'm real proud of our defense. They played with their backs to the goal most of the afternoon. DeVoir (Dave), Freer, Brister (Odell) and Lingle (Janie) all did fine jobs for us on defense."

Tyrone Rolfe turned in his second straight impressive showing for the Tigers. Rolfe, who won a starting spot in the backfield due to the many Benton Harbor injuries, streaked for 146 yards in 18 hits, 103 coming in the first half. George Thompson added 61 yards in 15 carries and Tillman, who only ran the ball in the last half, 45 yards on nine hits.

"Rolfe really did a nice job of running," praised Bergan of Rolfe, who had 110 yards the previous week against Battle Creek Central. "Thompson also played well and Kirkwood called a good game. Calvin Ferguson also blocked well as our fullback and I was glad to see Tillman come in there and do well the second half. Plus our offensive line performed well too."

Brister ran for 49 yards in 14 attempts for the Lancers while Freer could only produce 14 yards in nine carries. Quarterback DeVoir, who was hounded for five sacks and 53 yards in losses by the Tigers, generated 58 yards passing with Scott Andrews catching four passes for 41 yards. DeVoir ends the season with 668 yards through the air while Brister produced 622 yards on the ground and Freer 562 yards on catching and running.

Freer with his interception run broke the Lakeshore scoring record, which was 90. For the season the first senior ended with 96 points, also third-best in southwestern Michigan.

The Tigers scored with 1:30 left in the half when Hurst made a nifty diving catch of a Kirkwood pass in the left side of the end zone. The drive covered 38 yards in seven plays. A fumble recovery by Juan Hill led to the second Tiger score at 1:11 of the third period. Tillman went over from the 3 after a mini-drive of 13 yards.

Lakeshore's only sustained drive of the day went from their own 39 to the Benton Harbor 10 in the second period. But the Lancers came up empty when a 25-yard field goal try by DeVoir was short.

Freer's spectacular 80-yard pass theft return put the Lancers back in the game but Lakeshore could only make midfield in a last-minute frantic drive.

The loss saddles Lakeshore with a losing 4-5 record.

"A lot of excitement and not enough wins...that's the story of our lives this year," mused Tipping, whose Lancers lost the five games by a total of 21 points. "We were a touchdown away in about every game. We just couldn't come up with the big play or stop the big play."

"It's too bad this rivalry can't continue," offered Bergan, who also lauded his staff of Sam Jones, Tim Bergan and Dan Lauer for "keeping the faith."

The Lancers have added a two-game series with Kalamazoo Loy Norrix in place of Benton Harbor while the Tigers haven't yet added a ninth game for next year.

McLaughlin Gets Out Of Coaching

NILES — Neil McLaughlin, who coached southwestern Michigan football teams to an excellent 51-26 record over the past nine years, is resigning from Niles Senior High School.

NEIL McLAUGHLIN

Effective next Monday, McLaughlin will be manager of Midwest Athletic Supply in St. Joseph. Midwest is headquartered in South Bend and has a chain of outlets in the Michiana area. It is operated by Bob Plomkin, a good friend of McLaughlin since 1961.

"I think a change is needed," says McLaughlin, 39. "It is time to point myself in another direction. I have no questions about the change...I feel confident and optimistic about it."

"I've been thinking about moving out of coaching for two or three years. If the millage had not gone through in September, I would have left right then."

McLaughlin told school officials of his decision two weeks ago and informed his team last Thursday night that he was leaving the coaching ranks. The Vikings gave him a 21-7 victory over Dowagiac last Friday night as a going away present.

"I've enjoyed coaching," continues McLaughlin. "I've no regrets any place, and I'm glad to get out under these circumstances. Too often people get out of athletics at a bad time...they say if you get tired as a coach you will get fired as a coach. But all of my reminiscing will be good."

The Coon Rapids, Iowa, native spent his college days at Notre Dame and then coached for four years back in Iowa. He was then an assistant for five years at South Bend St. Joseph. South Bend Adams and Michigan City Elston before taking over as head coach at Lakeshore for the 1969 season.

He never had a losing season at Lakeshore in four years while going 25-8, including the school's only undefeated season in 1972. He won Blossomland Conference championships in 1969 and 1972.

McLaughlin moved on to Niles for the 1973 campaign and went 26-18 with the Vikings, including a 5-3 mark this season which included three victories in the last four games.

McLaughlin, who was named district coach of the year in 1972 and the Berrien County coach of the year in 1973, plans to continue living in Niles with his family at this time.

Edwardsburg Takes Fifth In Cross Country Finals

Edwardsburg was fifth and Bangor 17th in the Class C cross country state finals run at the Green Valley Golf Course in Sturgis Saturday.

Dan Parsons was the Eddies' top runner with a 17th place finish in 16:12. Other placemen were Dan Hoover 18th, Mark Haines 26th, Kevin Clark 37th and Tim Bakowski 65th.

Bangor was led by John Vojtko's 32nd place finish in 16:27. Others placing were Tim Hodge 58th, Mark Maurer 62nd, Mike Maurer 101st and John Hodge 111th.

Tim Lynch of Watervliet was 26th (16:28) and LaVaughn McNary of Cassopolis was 42nd (16:48) in the individual's race won by Dohn Henning of Allen Park St. Francis Cabrini in 15:21. DeWitt won the C title with 62 points. Dave Wilson and Ron Hensley, both of DeWitt, won the race.

In Class B at the same site, Holly was the team champ with 83 points and Dave Ball of Battle Creek Harper Creek was the individual winner.

In Class A at Indian Trails Golf Course in Grand Rapids, Grand Blanc won the team title with a record 51 points. Grand Blanc's Mark Mesler won the team race in 14:48.5. Curt Reynolds of Thorston was the individual race winner.

Brad DeBarba of Niles was 48th in 16:11 and St. Joseph's Bruce Goodwin was 53rd in 16:14.

In the 'D' race, Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart won the team title. Sacred Heart tied with Akron-Palmyra at 46, but in counting just the first four men for the tiebreaker, Sacred Heart won.

Jerry Curtis of Akron-Palmyra won the team race in 15:41.3 while Randy Perkins of Woberville was the individual champ. Hay Copeland of Lawton was 34th in 17:48.

Valley Gains Title Game

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Led by quarterback Terry Copcia, Wayne State broke a four-way tie for first place in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference over the weekend and moved one step closer to the conference crown.

Copcia, a senior from Utica, Mich., ran for two touchdowns and passed for another Saturday as the Tartars trounced Saginaw State 35-7 and won a shot at the league title against Grand Valley State.

Grand Valley also had a good day on the field Saturday, as freshman fullback Will Roach carried 18 times for 195 yards and three touchdowns to power the Lakers to a 31-20 victory over Hillsdale.

Wayne State and Grand Valley, which go into the title game with 3-1 conference records, are slated to meet Saturday in Detroit.

In other Michigan college football action, junior fullback Bill Blumiere of Hope College picked up 115 yards and two touchdowns to capture the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association rushing championship and gave Hope a 35-6 victory over Kalamazoo College Saturday in a conference football clash.

MIAA conference play also saw Olivet, winless in its last 18 games, struggle to a 14-1 tie with Adrian.

In Northern Intercollegiate football action, Keith Nord ran 83 yards on a kickoff return to spark St. Cloud State to a 24-17 come-from-behind victory over Michigan Tech.

In non-conference games, Adrian beat Lakeland of Wisconsin 24 to 6, Alma crushed Oberlin 61-18, and Dayton trampled Ferris State 45-19.

Spartan Skaters Jolt Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota, the only unbeaten team in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association after Friday night, dropped a 4-3 decision in overtime to Michigan State Saturday and was joined by three other teams for a share of first place. The Gophers, Colorado College, Michigan and Denver are all 3-1 after the second weekend of WCHA action. Minnesota and Colorado, both 2-0 after last weekend, split their series, while the Wolverines and Pioneers swept two games to move into the top-two tie. Minnesota, behind the stout goaltending of Steve Janaszek, whipped Michigan State 4-1 Friday, but the Spartans fired 15 shots at the junior goalie to up the Gophers' lead the following night. Paul Klasminksi banged in a 20th-minute pass from Jim Johnson with 35 seconds left in overtime to run a spectacular comeback by Minnesota. Michigan State had taken a 3-0 lead midway through the second period, but the Gophers cut the gap from Steve Christoff, his second goal of the night, at 18:48 of the final period. Colorado College rebounded from an 8-6 loss to Wisconsin Friday to beat the Badgers 4-1 Saturday and keep pace with Minnesota. Wisconsin held a 4-1 lead, but Greg Whyte's second goal of the night broke the 4-1 tie at 2:32 of the third period. Wisconsin captain Mike Eaves slipped in one goal to give him 189 career points, the school record. Doug Berry's hat trick, one goal in each period, lifted Denver past Michigan Tech 3-2 Saturday night and with Friday's 7-4 victory, helped the Pioneers move into a tie for the league lead. Michigan beat Notre Dame 5-3 and 7-3 to raise its record to 4-1. Dave DeLoe notched three goals in Saturday's victory and Ben Kawa scored what proved to be the winning goal with an assist from Don Lora. Notre Dame, the only winless team in the WCHA, fell to 0-4. A 20-foot slapshot by Stan Palmer in overtime pushed Minnesota-Duluth past North Dakota 5-4 Saturday night. The Sooners tried to preserve a 1-0 lead late in the third period, but Mitch Corbin tied the game into overtime with a goal at 17:39. The victory was Duluth's first in the WCHA this year. North Dakota is 2-2. Next weekend Colorado and Denver play a home and home series. Michigan is at Michigan State, UMD travels to Michigan Tech. North Dakota visits Minnesota and Wisconsin is at Notre Dame.

Bills Find Replacement For Simpson

Hooks Snags Win For Buffalo

O.J. who?
The Buffalo Bills, who lost superstar O.J. Simpson for the season with a knee injury last week, have found a new running star in Roland Hooks, who rambled for 155 yards Sunday to help the Bills upset the New England Patriots 24-14 in National Football League action. "They pulled themselves together," said Buffalo coach Jim Rango, whose team put on its best offensive show of the season despite the absence of Simpson. "They knew it wouldn't do any good to panic." "We had something to prove — that we weren't the worst team in pro football," said Hooks. "We had to get our self-respect back."

It was only Buffalo's second victory in eight starts, and it left New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks confused and upset. Hooks wasn't the only fill-in to have a big day. Rookie Rick Kane, starting in place of injured Dexter Bussey, rushed for 16 yards and two touchdowns to help the Detroit Lions surprise the San Diego Chargers 20-0.

That was the first victory for a National Conference team over one from the American Conference this season. The AFC holds a 10-1 lead.
St. Louis, Cincinnati and San Francisco also posted upsets, the Cardinals whipping the Minnesota Vikings 27-7, the Bengals edging the Cleveland Browns 10-7 and the 49ers beating the Atlanta Falcons 19-3. But mighty Dallas easily survived the rush of upsets, defeating the New York Giants 24-10 to raise its record to 5-0, the only unbeaten mark in the NFL.
Oakland and Denver remained in a tie for the lead in the AFC West with 7-1 records as the Raiders beat the Seattle Seahawks 41-7 and the Broncos defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers 21-7.
In non-conference games, freshman Cincinnati quarterback Tony Kapenants passed for two touchdowns in a 38-26 verdict over Ohio University. Doug Crisan ran two yards with 25 seconds left to give Eastern Michigan a 21-20 decision over North Carolina A&T and Bowling Green fell to Tennessee-Chattanooga 47-33.

happy. "I don't think we were mentally concentrating enough today to execute properly," said Landry. "It's a long season. It has ups and downs. Today was a down."
Jim Hart threw two touchdown passes and running backs Wayne Morris and Terry Metcalf each scored twice. Morris rushed for 182 yards in 27 attempts, the second highest total in Cardinal history.
The Cardinals, 3-3, remained in the running for a wild card playoff berth. The Vikings, also 3-3, lead Detroit in the NFC Central race by one game.
The Cardinals scored seven of the first eight times it had the ball in routing the Seahawks. Ken Stabler threw three touchdown passes, Errol Mann kicked

Denver's Orange Crush defense allowed Pittsburgh across midfield only three times as the Broncos kept pace with Oakland.
Special teams star Rick Upchurch provided the offensive spark, returning five punts for a team-record 157 yards including an 87-yard scamper for a touchdown. That was the first punt return for a touchdown against the Steelers since 1960.
Ed Podolak rushed for 98 yards and one touchdown as the Chiefs won their first game under interim coach Bettis, who took over after popular Paul Wiggins was fired on Monday.

Chris Bohr's 47-yard field goal in the third period gave Cincinnati its victory and tightened the AFC Central Division race. Cleveland still leads at 5-3, but Cincinnati, Houston and Pittsburgh are all at 4-4-1.
It was the 22nd consecutive loss for the Bucs and spoiled the homecoming of Tampa Bay Coach John McKay, who had been a highly successful college coach at Southern Cal before going pro. Pat Haden, a Southern Cal grad, threw two touchdowns as the Rams, 5-3, moved to a one-game lead over Atlanta in the NFC West.
San Francisco knocked Atlanta out of a tie for the NFL West lead, sacking Falcons quarterback Steve Bartkowski seven times for losses of 76 yards. The only touchdown of the game came on a 2-yard run by Wilbur Jackson in the third quarter.

Ron Jaworski passed for two touchdowns and ran for two more, but the horn for the Eagles was punter Spike Jones, who pined the Saints within their 10-yard line four times. Ironically, Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil had spent the week trying to find a new punter, but came up empty.
Bob Griese threw scoring passes of 20 and 24 yards to Darrel Harris and Miami's defense kept the Jets out of the end zone until the final minute. The victory moved Miami within one-half game of Baltimore in the AFC East race.

Canucks Lose Away Too

Red Wings Win; Black Hawks Tie

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
A seven-game homestand may have been too much of a bad thing, as far as one of the Vancouver Canucks is concerned.
"The people in Vancouver would not have a cure for cancer," observed defenseman Jack McIlhenny.
The fans have been spending most of their time hating Canucks losses, since the team dropped its last four home contests and hasn't scored more than three goals at home yet this season.

Sedgman Back In Old Form
NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Frank Sedgman, back in form after recovering from a ruptured Achilles tendon he suffered 14 months ago, defeated fellow Australian Iles Hartwig 6-3, 6-0 to win the Grand Masters tournament for over-45 tennis champions Sunday.
In the doubles' final, third-seeded Pancho Gonzales and Whitney Reed defeated top-seeded Sedgman and Hartwig 7-5, 6-4.
The tour moves to Cincinnati this weekend for a three-day tournament at Harpers Point.

Holmgren Out
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Paul Holmgren will miss the next two or three weeks of National Hockey League play because of an injured right knee, the Philadelphia Flyers said Sunday.

But getting away from home fan pressures did little to help the Canucks' fortunes. They went into Philadelphia Sunday night and lost again as Bob Kelly poked in his own rebound at 7:22 of the third period to give the Flyers a 3-2 triumph.
At least, observed McIlhenny, "it's better being out here."
"We all love playing on the road. You can't make a mistake there (in Vancouver). It's impossible to please them (the home fans)."
The Flyers, pleased their followers, coming up with their fifth home victory in six outings — again with help from one of their non-scorers: Kelly, a left wing whose career-best output was a less-than-great 22 goals last season.
Right wing Don Saleski is another worker-turned-scorer. Another Flyer with in career high of 22 goals, Saleski had nine in his first eight games, and all Coach Fred Shero can say is, "It's almost unbelievable. I hope they never wake up."
Bobby Clarke scored his third goal in two games and Orest Khrachuk collected his first of the season as the Flyers extended their unbeaten streak to five. Ron Scudlauer and Billard Graves tallied in the Canucks' fifth straight loss.
In the other NHL games Sunday night, the Boston Bruins bested the New York Islanders 5-3, the Atlanta Flames and Chicago Black Hawks tied 4-3, the Buffalo Sabres slashed the St. Louis Blues 7-4 and the Detroit Red Wings downed the Cleveland Barons 4-1.
Rick Middleton, Gregg Sheppard and Matt Hagman each scored his first goal of the season as Boston beat New York.

Hagman tipped Gary Doak's slapshot past Islanders goalie Billy Smith to break a 2-2 tie in the third period and Peter McNab scored the game-winner not much later.
Islanders center Bryan Troutier scored his ninth goal of the year and seventh in the last five games while rookie right wing Mike Bossy collected his eighth for New York.
Grant Mulvey scored on a rebound with less than six minutes remaining to help Chicago tie Atlanta and extend the Black Hawks' unbeaten streak to seven games.

Center Gil Perreault scored three goals, giving him seven in the last three games, and Rick Martin had two in Buffalo's victory over hapless St. Louis. The Blues have won just one of their 13 games, though Coach Leo Bolvin claims "Our record is a little deceptive."
Bill Loebeck scored two goals to carry Detroit past Cleveland, which has won just one of its last seven.

SMC Runners

Tie For First

DOWAGIAC — SMC runners Mike Mead of Lakeshore and Steve Pontoff tied for the college division title in 27:06 at the Roadrunner Two Open held here Saturday.

Other Southwestern Michigan College runners who placed were Al Ayala third, Jim Trappan fifth and Cindy Rittche third.

Dave Zehr of Elkhardt won the high school division, Brian Wierick of Grand Rapids was the high school victor. Steve Press of Three Rivers took the Men's 20-29 Division, Pat Davis of Mokena, Ill., took the Men's 30-39 run and Jill Klatt of Grand Rapids was the women's winner.

Norton Getting Rematch?

Ducking Him May Cost Ali Title

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — When the bell rang sending Ken Norton and Jimmy Young into action for the 14th round, Muhammad Ali shouted from his ringside seat: "I'm tired of fighting Norton. Win, Jimmy!"

But this time boxing's leading mover and shaker didn't get his way. Instead, Ali will have to risk the heavyweight championship against Norton, who has given him three tough fights, or risk losing at least a share of the title by "ducking"

Norton.

Norton put Ali on the spot by scoring a split decision over Young Saturday night in a 15-round fight sanctioned as a heavyweight elimination by the World Boxing Council.

Ali made the Norton-Young fight by suggesting he would meet the winner. But over the past several months, he has been saying he would need $12 million for such a fight.

"Now he (Ali) says he will fight the winner for the proper price," said Norton's manager, Bob Biron. "Now his proper price is something no promoter will meet."

Promoter Don King hopes Ali will find $8 million proper enough, for that is what he has offered the champ to meet Norton. Biron said he has given King 30 days to make the fight, and King said Ali's manager, Herbert Muhammad, and his attorney, Charles Lomax, were considering it.

The WBC doesn't care who Ali fights for or how much he fights for, only that he commit himself within 90 days to fight Norton within six months or be stripped of title recognition.

Should Ali refuse to fight Norton within 90 days, Jose Sulaiman, WBC president, said he would favor Norton being named WBC champion. Such action would require approval by the council, Sulaiman said.

Uncover Evidence In Ringer Scandal

NEW YORK (AP) — A five-man task force, which spent four days in Uruguay investigating the Belmont ringer scandal, planned to return to New York today with evidence that a horse called Lebon actually is South American stakes winner Cinzano.

The task force took blood samples from horses that shared common ancestry with Lebon and from Lebon's dam, Talavera. In addition to interviewing five witnesses who identified Cinzano in pictures that the team had brought from Belmont. The pictures were taken of the horse called Lebon.

The task force apparently also will attempt to show that the switch of Cinzano for Lebon — two horses imported from Uruguay last June by suspended veterinarian Dr. Mark Gerard — was made after the horses cleared customs in the United States.

"If there was a switch, it was in the United States and definitely not here," says Luis Donamari, a Uruguayan who has acted as broker for Dr. Gerard for the sale of about 100 South American horses during the past seven years.

A key figure in the case — which broke after a horse listed as Lebon won a race at Belmont Park on Sept. 23 at 57-1 odds — is Alice Gerard, wife of Dr. Gerard. One published report said she scouted Uruguayan farms for two weeks before purchasing a Cinzano look-alike.

She denied the report and was scheduled to meet with her attorney, Richard Reisch, today. Reisch said Mrs. Gerard's passport will show that she was in Uruguay for a very short time — which will be corroborated in depositions taken by the task force.

In fact, Donamari told The Associated Press that he made the purchase of Lebon. "Gerard had asked me to find a race horse with a purchase price of around $7,000-$8,000," Donamari said. "I found Lebon. Nobody told me to look for a horse that looked like Cinzano."

Dr. Gerard was suspended by the New York State Racing and Wagering Board in October, accused of secretly substituting Cinzano for Lebon, resulting in the high odds, and collecting $77,920 on a bet he placed on the horse. Dr. Gerard reported that he destroyed Cinzano on June 12, shortly after the horse arrived in New York, because it had suffered a head injury.

In addition, Lloyd's of London has paid $500,000 to the listed owner of Cinzano, Joseph Taub, and the FBI has said it is investigating the possibility of fraud-by-wire in the insurance payment.

Hayes Backs Up Apology; Helps Bullets Shoot Jazz

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Elvin Hayes was apologizing to his Washington Bullets teammates, castigating himself for the paltry 52 rebounds he'd contributed in six previous games.

Nearby, a near-record crowd was filling into the Superdome to see the hometown Jazz, who had acquired a surprising habit of winning in this National Basketball Association season. The fans numbered 26,471, the third largest crowd in NBA history, but it didn't help the Jazz.

"It's something I felt I had to do," Hayes said Sunday. "I've been standing back, thinking, 'Let someone else do it.' I felt I owed my teammates an apology and told them I was sorry."

Then Hayes backed up his apology with 21 points and 20 rebounds as the Bullets broke the Jazz habit and disappointed all of those fans, 108-97.

Jim McMillian burst out of a shooting slump — one that had cut deeply into his playing time for more than a year — to score a season-high 22 points for the Knicks, 10 of them in the fourth quarter. His 20-foot jumper with 3:30 remaining put the Knicks ahead to stay at 89-88.

McMillian led a troupe of five Knicks who scored in double figures, including Bob McAdoo with 18, Earl Monroe with 17, rookie Ray Williams with 12 and Laurie Ricketts with 11.

The Knicks never trailed in the first half, leading the floor with a 67-37 advantage.

The Trail Blazers put down a late Pacer rebellion that trimmed their lead to two points three times in the final five minutes as Dave Twardzik scored 22 points and Bill Walton added 21.

Indiana's Dan Roundfield reduced the margin to 108-106 on a three-point play with 21 seconds to go. The Blazers followed with an effective passing game to run out the clock.

Seattle suffered its 10th loss at the hands of a defector as former Seattle Lucius Allen poured in 21 points for the Kings.

The Sonics led by as many as seven points in the first quarter but the Kings went ahead by six at the half.

O'Connell Says Re-Entry Draft Bad For Baseball

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

He was a forlorn figure, sitting in a corner of the anteroom, one leg propped up on a chair, silently absorbing all the baseball id-jinx exploding around him.

"Who would have thought the game would ever come to this?" mused graying Dick O'Connell, 31 years with the Boston Red Sox. It years the club's executive vice-president and general manager, now a re-entry draft of the unemployed.

"It looks like Wall Street in there. Everybody wanting to buy a championship. Spend a few million and land in the World Series."

The site was the Grand Ball Room of the fashionable Plaza Hotel and the occasion was the second free agent re-entry draft last weekend, with 80-odd pieces of diamond brie-a-brac up for grabs.

Indeed, it was a microcosm of Wall Street, and more. It was the neighborhood supermarket on Friday afternoon, a street scene in the Casbah, the old Chicago stockyards with crystal chandeliers dealing in prime beef, some apt to go as high as $20,000 a pound.

"This is bound to create two levels of baseball clubs with a wide gap between," said O'Connell. "The top level, the rich clubs with $11 million budgets or more, and the financially insecure, struggling to get by on $4 million."

"The result: The affluent buy what they need, win and draw fans. This brings in more money. They spend and win some more. The poorer clubs fall from contention early. Fans desert. They keep falling back."

"The poor clubs stay alive by operating on a deferred compensation plan — buy now, pay later. The rich pay up front to take advantage of tax deductions. The rich get richer, and the poor get poorer."

Most of O'Connell's career has been spent with a team which bore the gold-plated imprint of the late Tom Yawkey, who was accused of trying to buy pennants before anyone ever heard the name of George Steinbrenner.

"The Red Sox got that reputation before my time — it was when Yawkey had Joe Cronin doing the work for him," the former Boston exec said. "When he was alive, Mr. Yawkey told me, 'Don't bother me with details. It's your job to run the club. Do it.' He was a generous man."

O'Connell was summarily dismissed recently when a syndicate headed by Dickey LeFlore and Haywood Sullivan put up money to purchase the club from the Yawkey estate. The sale is yet unapproved, but O'Connell concedes that his Red Sox ties are irreparably severed.

Steinbrenner, owner of the Yankees, is pitting his shipbuilding fortune against Ray Kroc's hamburger millions (McDonald's and San Diego); the whisky fortune of Montreal's Charles Bruntman (Schenley); Ewing Kaufman's Kansas City pharmaceutical empire and Gene Autry's California broadcasting empire.

Meanwhile, baseball traditionalists such as Minnesota's Calvin Griffith, Detroit's John Fetzer, Cleveland's Ted Bonda and the Reds' Bob Howsam & Co., among others, hung on for dear life.

"We intend to continue doing it our way," said Howsam, refusing to get into the big money sweepstakes. "Develop, trade for players, funnel money back into the team. We can come back."

Purdue Crucial Game For Michigan

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cochi Bo Schenckler will take his sixth-ranked Michigan Wolverines to Purdue this Saturday to seek revenge for their only Big Ten loss last year.

And the Wolverines had better get it because if they fail and Ohio State defeats Indiana, the Nov. 13 showdown between Michigan and Ohio State would become academic since the fourth-ranked Buckeyes would have clinched the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl bid.

Ohio State hosted its Big Ten record to a perfect 6-0 with a 35-0 win of Illinois last Saturday.

Streffling Gives M&M Upset Win

PAW PAW — Lanny Streffling's basket in the final second Sunday helped M & M Foods upset Gravel Hills-Mitchell's 73-71 in Paw Paw Men's Basketball League play.

The loss was the first in league play for Gravel Hills after four wins. M & M Foods, also 4-1, got 21 points from Bob Dentzman. Dave Anderson scored 26 for the losers.

Time's dwellers moved into first place with a 68-50 victory over Sportsman's of Kalamazoo. John Martin tossed in 30 for Hime's, now 5-1. Jerry Bachman had 22 for the losers.

In other action Sunday, Tappan Olds nipped Dow Construction 66-50, despite 28 points by Dow's Chuck Shanahan. Smucker's got 22 points from Chris Penrose in beating First National Bank of Lawton 63-49. Kurt Wiese tallied 14 points as VFW Post crushed Boy's Place 61-50 and Wehrum Construction nipped Glass Specialty 50-48, despite 22 points for the losers' Bryan Nugteren.

while once-beaten Michigan was blasting winless Northwestern 53-20.

Michigan State remained the only other team in the title race by whipping Minnesota 29-10. Purdue rolled to its third straight victory by downing Wisconsin 22-9 and Indiana came from behind to defeat Iowa 24-21.

Michigan State is 4-1-1 and could lay claim to the title if the Spartans win their last two games. Ohio State loses its last two and Purdue defeats Michigan this week.

Those chances are remote since Ohio State returns home Saturday and will be heavily favored to defeat Indiana.

Michigan must defeat Purdue and quarterback Mark Herrmann and cornerback Mark Herrmann admitted after the Northwestern rout that "There's no getting around it. We've got revenge on our minds. We have been pointing to our last two games all year."

Michigan held a 14-7 halftime lead over Northwestern before Rick Leach ran for two touchdowns and passed for two more in a devastating third quarter as the Wolverines packed 40 points in the second half.

Ohio State also needed a second half surge to turn back Illinois after the Buckeyes held a 7-0 halftime edge. Five players scored touchdowns with Ron Sprague gaining 132 yards in 24 carries and scoring on a 13-yard run.

The Buckeyes tried only four passes but rushed for 492 yards and Coach Woody Hayes said, "We played about the way Ohio State should play. We tried two or three passes, had one nice catch and dropped two so we decided to huddle up."

Ed Smith hurried touchdown passes of 51 and 85 yards to Kirk Gibson to lead Michigan State past Minnesota. It was the Gophers' first loss at home this season.

LOSES SHIRT AND YARDS: University of Houston quarterback Delrick Brown (9) not only lost five yards but also his shirt as University of Texas' Mark Martignoni (42) pulled him to the turf in the second quarter of the Southwest Conference game at Houston. Texas won 35-21. (AP Wirephoto)

Jones' Putt Wins Team Golf Classic

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — It was a weary, emotionally-exhausted Gibby Gilbert who issued an eyesightful sigh of relief.

"Thank God he had that putt — not me. I'd have putted it in the sand trap," Gilbert said.

It was one of those knee-knocking four-footers. Grier Jones had it for birdie on the 72nd hole Sunday to win the Walt Disney World National Team Golf Classic with teammate Gilbert.

Riding on it was a $20,000 check for each man.

Jones boldly rammed it in, capping off a better-half, 6-under-par 66 that produced a one-stroke victory over the team of Andy North and Steve Melnyk. Gilbert and Jones finished with a 251 total, a whopping 45 strokes below par on the 7,197 yard Magnolia Course at central Florida's spectacular entertainment complex.

North and Melnyk had a final round 63, nine under par, in the mild, partly-cloudy weather of the final day and a 254 total.

Brothers Dave and Mike Hill came out of the pack with a last-round, 9-under-par 63 and tied for third at 257 with Hale Irvin and Tom Weiskopf, who had a closing 67. Chi Chu Rodriguez and Victor Regalado and Morris Hatahsy and Don Pooley tied for fifth at 258. The Rodriguez-Regalado team had a closing 68. Hatahsy-Pooley 66.

Irish Eye No. 1 Team

Joyce Main Bowl Man

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stop the presses! The main man in determining this year's college bowl picture is not grizzled old Bear Bryant of Alabama but a gentleman in clerical garb who works out of South Bend, Ind.

The name, football fans, is the Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president of the University of Notre Dame and chairman of the fancy-named Faculty Board in Control of Athletics. The entire board officially has to approve Father Joyce's recommendation, but they've been listening to him for 25 years so why stop now?

This is the problem: The bowl bids go out Nov. 19 and, according to a Sugar Bowl spokesman, "I'd guess Notre Dame will be everybody's first choice, but they'll have to make a value judgment as to who the No. 1 team will be on bowl day."

So, does Notre Dame, ranked fifth in the nation last week and an impressive 49-11 victor over Georgia Tech, opt for the Cotton Bowl, whose host team probably won't be settled until No. 1-ranked Texas, a 35-21 winner over Houston, meets Texas A&M on Nov. 20?

Or do the Fighting Irish decide that Texas A&M, 10th last week and idle over the weekend, will win the Southwest Conference showdown, thereby changing Notre Dame's course to the Sugar Bowl, where second-ranked Alabama nailed down the host spot, as well as its sixth Southeastern Conference crown in seven years, by trouncing 18th-ranked Louisiana State 24-37? The Crimson Tide has two regular-season chances left to lose — slim and none, alas Miami and Auburn and you pick which is which.

Or will it be Notre Dame's opinion that Oklahoma, currently ranked No. 3 and a 61-28 romper over Oklahoma State, will turn back Nebraska on Nov. 25 — the Sooners must first face Colorado next Saturday — win the Big Eight championship and become a stronger opponent in the Orange Bowl?

And now, the envelope, please.

"It would be nice if we could wait," says a source close to Notre Dame, "but if Texas is No. 1 on Nov. 19, we've got to go with them."

Of course, 15th-ranked Clemson, which was held to a 13-13 deadlock by North Carolina — guess what Clemson's unlucky number was this weekend — could spoil all the guesswork by upsetting the Irish come Saturday.

But if all goes according to form, it will probably be Texas-Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, Alabama against the Ohio State-Michigan Nov. 19 loser in the Sugar Bowl and Oklahoma against the Nov. 26 Penn State-Pitt winner in the Orange Bowl, the loser perhaps winding up in the Gator Bowl.

"It's still kind of a confusing picture, but I think a lot of people will be jumping on Nov. 19," says another bowl official. "The results this week (Notre Dame-Clemson, Arkansas-Texas A&M, Colorado-Oklahoma, Brigham Young-Arizona State) will start settling the dust."

The Rose Bowl, of course, will pit the Ohio State-Michigan winner against the Pacific-8 champ, either Southern California, UCLA or Washington. While fourth-ranked Ohio State was trouncing Illinois 35-0, No. 6 Michigan flattened Northwestern 53-20. No. 16 Southern Cal bombed Stanford 49-0, Washington knocked off No. 17 California 50-31 and UCLA turned back Oregon 21-10.

Besides Alabama, Louisiana Tech also won its way into a bowl. The Bulldogs defeated Lamar 23-6 to capture the Southland Conference crown and the host berth in the Independence Bowl.

Elsewhere, No. 7 Kentucky whipped Vanderbilt 28-6, No. 8 Arkansas topped Baylor 35-9, No. 9 Penn State edged North Carolina State 21-17 and No. 10 Texas A&M was idle.

In the Second Ten, No. 11 Nebraska beat Missouri 21-10,

No. 12 Pitt drubbed West Virginia 41-3, No. 14 Brigham Young trounced Utah 28-8 as Marc Wilson passed for an NCAA record 471 yards and five touchdowns and No. 15 Florida State nipped Virginia Tech 23-21. Arizona State, tied for 19th, routed Wyoming 45-0 while Iowa State, the other half of the No. 19 parlay, lost to Colorado 12-7.

As usual, Texas was led by Earl Campbell, who played for 173 yards and three touchdowns against Houston and moved into sixth place on the all-time NCAA rushing list with a career total of 3,887.

Wilson, who became a starter when Gifford Nielsen was injured, completed 26 of 41 passes in erasing the major college passing mark of 561 yards by Utah State's Tony Adams — also against Utah — in 1972.

Wilson also surpassed the small college record of 398 set by Bob Toledo of San Francisco State in 1947. Ironically, Tom Saine of Central Methodist set an NIAA record Saturday by also passing for 571 yards in a wild 56-48 triumph over Culver-Stockton. That wiped out the mark of 564 set last year by Abilene Christian's Jim Reese.

Meanwhile, Grambling State's Doug Williams completed 23 of 39 passes for 375 yards and seven touchdowns to become the NCAA's all-time pass yardage leader with a total of 7,351, two more than Florida's John Reeves. Williams also upped his record for career touchdown passes to 84.

SPORTS CAPSULES

TENNIS
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — Chris Evert, her ground strokes working to perfection, overwhelmed Billy Jean King 6-2, 6-2 to capture the $250,000 women's tennis Series Championship.

TOKYO — Top-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain outclassed ninth-seeded Kim Warwick of Australia 6-2, 6-1 in the finals of the $100,000 Fred Perry Japan Open tennis tournament to take the $18,000 top prize.

Warwick and Geoff Masters of Australia won the doubles crown with a 6-2, 7-6 victory over countrymen Colin Dibley and Chris Kachel.

many was second with 49. Great Britain third with 43 and Canada fourth with 39.

BOWLING
SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Fifth-year pro Paul Moser of Somerset, Mass., won seven of eight match play games and opened a commanding 212-pin lead over Rick Miller of Portland, Ore., after the fourth round of the $80,000 Syracuse Open Professional Bowlers Association tournament.

Moser, whose only title came when he won the 1970 U.S. Open, began head-to-head match play with a 51-pin lead, then averaged 220 for his eight match play games to move within range of his second PBA title.

Moser rolled games of 243, 241, 206, 198, 227, 216, 244 and 213.

PARIS — Italy's Corrado Barazzutti upset top-seeded Brian Gottfried 7-6, 7-6, 6-7, 3-6, 6-4 in the finals of the $50,000 Open Crocodile Tennis Tournament. Barazzutti, Italy's No. 2 player, played the seesaw 4½-hour marathon with exceptional artistry, showing the kind of baseline command that enabled him to crush Gottfried earlier this year in the quarter-finals of the U.S. Open at Forest Hills, N.Y.

COLOGNE, West Germany — Top-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden won the men's singles championship of the Cologne Grand Prix Tennis Tournament, beating Poland's Wojtek Fibak 2-6, 7-5, 6-3 in the finals. It was the 21st successive tournament victory and the fourth straight Grand Prix triumph for the Swedish Wimbledon winner.

BUENOS AIRES — Transsexual Dr. Renee Richards scored a 6-0, 7-6 victory over Viviana Gonzalez of Argentina to advance to the finals of the $10,000 River Plate Open Tennis Tournament. She will meet 16-year-old Ivanna Madruga of Argentina in the finals.

HORSE RACING
LAUREL, Md. — Steve Caution won the 28th running of the Washington, D.C. International Saturday aboard Johnny D., one of the American entries. Johnny D. finished two and one half lengths ahead of another American entry, Magestic Light, with a French entry, Exceller, finishing third.

HORSE SHOW
NEW YORK — Liz Edgar, the only woman rider on the British Equestrian Team, rode Everest Wallaby to victory in the Grand Prix of New York as the 94th edition of the National Horse Show. The United States Equestrian Team won the international team title with a whopping 134 points. West Ger-

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fort Wayne right winger Jamie Gallimore scored the tie-breaking goal at 7:45 of the third period and the Komets went on to capture a 3-1 victory from the Wings in Kalamazoo.

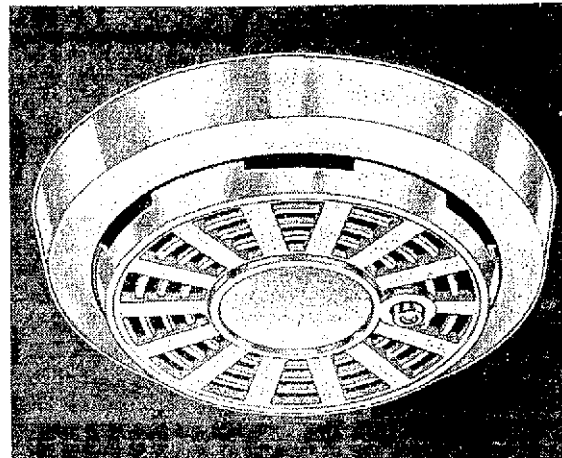

The Wings opened the scoring on a goal by center Terry McDougal. Right winger Tom Milani tied it up. The Komets' Rob Land put the game away for Fort Wayne with his goal at 19:37 of the final period.

The victory gives Fort Wayne a 3-4 record. Kalamazoo is 1-3-4.

CAR CRUSHED: Shirley Welker, 41, and her son, David, 15, both of Dearborn Heights, were killed Sunday when this Amtrak passenger train hit their car and pushed it nearly a mile. ## Mother, Son Both Killed At Amtrak Rail Crossing

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A woman and one of her seven children were killed instantly this weekend when she drove her car around a crossing gate in Dearborn and was hit by a speeding Amtrak passenger train, police said.

The Sunday deaths of Shirley Welker, 41, of Dearborn Heights, and her son, David, 15, brought the weekend traffic toll on Michigan highways to

Witnesses said Mrs. Welker drove around the protective guardrails and into the path of a westbound train traveling at 70 miles per hour.

"It was unbelievable," said Thomas Berlin, 22, who was at the train's controls. "No one looked. I saw her looking straight ahead. She drove around the (crossing) gate... wasn't even trying to get away."

No injuries were reported among the 150 passengers on the train, bound from Detroit to Chicago.

Debbie Kremer, 22, of Brown City, and Richard Holt, 21, of Hulay City, were killed early Sunday in Lapeer County's Burnside Township when their car collided with another on Michigan 90.

Myrtle Pauline Cook, 34, of Berrien Springs, was killed

Sunday night when she was struck by two cars on I-91, Benton Township in Berrien County. Police said she was walking across the freeway after having car trouble.

In another Sunday night crash, Virginia Best, 31, of Kalamazoo was killed when the car she was driving collided with another auto in Kalamazoo.

A Friday night crash claimed three lives. Ottawa County deputies said Paul Reister, 20, of Hudsonville, was westbound on Michigan 45 in Tallmadge Township east of Allendale when his car crossed the center line and hit another auto. That car was driven by Mary Jo DeVries, 19, of Grand Rapids, and David Paul Mohner, 21, of Holland, was a passenger.

Ms. DeVries and Mohner were dead at the scene. Reister died at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids.

In another fatal crash, Robert Boyer, 44, of Warren, was driving a Detroit Edison Co. van early Saturday when his vehicle slammed into a car driven by off-duty state police trooper Charles Seeley, 32, of Tully. The van rolled over several times and smashed into a utility pole.

State Police said that collision occurred after Boyer ran a stop sign on a county road near Bad Axe in Huron County.

Seeley, a trooper at the Bad Axe post, was in serious condition with head injuries at the Huron Memorial Hospital.

Dale Edwards, 36, of Menominee, was killed Saturday night in rural Menominee County when his car left the road, struck a tree and burst into flames.

Other victims of weekend traffic accidents were Philip James, 35, of Ionia, who died when his car ran off a road in Ionia County, and Samuel Lee Tate, 61, of Detroit, who was killed when he lost control of his car and hit a tree in northwest Detroit.

Victims Of Crime Can Collect Now

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Victims of crimes can now apply to the state for up to $15,000 in cash compensation.

The new program makes money available to cover lost wages and medical bills incurred by crime victims, those who come to the aid of victims, and dependents of those injured or killed in crimes since Oct. 1.

The program does not pay for pain or suffering, property loss, or expenses already covered by insurance. But it does pay medical expenses incurred once a regular insurance plan runs out. It also pays for psychiatric care for those who suffer emotional problems as the result of a crime.

Thomas E. Woods, chairman of the three-member Crime Victims Compensation Board which administers the program, said he hopes to make it as easy as possible for crime victims to collect.

"I believe a victim should be able to get free assistance in filling out a claim," said Woods, former general counsel for the Michigan Senate.

The new law creating the compensation program took effect Oct. 1, but Gov. William Milliken hadn't appointed the compensation board until now.

Woods said application forms will be available at police departments and prosecutors' offices, where crime victims can get help in filling them out. Applications will also be available by mail.

To qualify for compensation, a victim must report a crime to the police within two days and submit an application within 30 days.

After the board receives the claim, investigators will check it against police reports.

If the two accounts differ, investigators will interview the claimant to determine what really happened. Claimants may appeal denial of their applications to the board and then to the state Court of Appeals.

The legislature appropriated $750,000 this year for the program, the 23rd of its kind in the U.S. Woods estimates that about 150 of the 5,000 persons who are victimized by crimes in Michigan each month will be eligible for compensation.

In addition to Woods, the board members are Kathleen Foglik of Ann Arbor, a Washtenaw County commissioner, and Pontiac lawyer Lynn Hogg.

Special Meetings Are Slated At Buchanan

BUCHANAN — Both the Buchanan City Commission and School Board will hold special closed sessions this week.

The city commission will meet at 6:30 p.m. today to discuss the possible purchase of property, according to Mayor Richard Gault. Gault said the purchase was not related to the controversial downtown improvement project, but he would not divulge the property to be discussed. On Wednesday, at 7 p.m., the school board is scheduled to discuss contract negotiations with teachers, according to Paul Montgomery, assistant superintendent.

PBB Burial Decision Expected Soon

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State officials are at loggerheads as they try to figure out what to do about getting rid of cattle contaminated with PBB.

With the attorney general and natural resources experts tugging in different directions, Gov. William Milliken and Natural Resources Director Howard Tarnier are expected to decide this week what action to take. Officials have spent five weeks mulling over the problem.

Meanwhile, the state has condemned some 70 cattle as exceeding new state tolerance levels for polychlorinated biphenyl. Most are being kept by their former owners — with state financial assistance — while officials ponder their alternatives.

They have three basic choices:

—Accept an Oscoda County judge's order and bury the cattle near Mio. But the order requires the pit be lined with 20 feet of clay — and DNR experts say that would cost about $1.5 million for 2,000 animals.

—Ask Circuit Court Judge Allen Miller to accept a similar, but cheaper, lining for the burial site, to protect against leakage of PBB. But that is opposed by attorneys for the county, who filed the suit which blocked the burial in the first place.

—Build an incinerator to burn the animals. But that would take at least six months, and the state probably would face a lawsuit over its location.

Milliken's aides, DNR officials and attorney general's representatives met late last week, but reached no decision on the problem. Legal experts argued for accepting the order to line the site with clay, noting that at least would make the site available.

"You have the bird in the hand," said Assistant Attorney General Stanley Steinborn. "Legally, we have a site."

But the clay requirement has aroused opposition from DNR officials, who insist it's too costly and not necessary to guard against groundwater contamination from less than two ounces of PBB.

"Frankly, we don't like it because it's very expensive," said Deputy Director Wayne Tody. And he said the exact cost of the clay — which depends on how far it must be trucked — would be set by bids and is yet to be determined.

"We don't see any clay available in that (the Mio) area, or anywhere near it," he said.

He said he favors temporary steps to hold the condemned cattle — possibly on a private farm under a special contract — and building the incinerator.

Meanwhile, the state has discarded as unfeasible other potential burial sites. It could appeal Miller's order to a higher court, but that would take a long time. It asked Dow Chemical Co. to use its incinerator — the only one in the state able to burn chemical wastes safely — but the company said it was too busy to accept the livestock.

Meanwhile, legislation is slated to be introduced in the House soon to establish a multi-incinerator disposal site for toxic substances. But that will do nothing to solve the current problem.

Sex Education, Jobless Pay Quick OKs Due Key Bills

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Key bills to lift Michigan's ban on teaching birth control and to reorganize the financing of the state's unemployment compensation system are slated for quick approval by the Legislature this week.

In both cases, one chamber has only to approve minor changes in the bills made by the other. Both bills were expected to get to Gov. William Milliken's desk by the end of the week, with his signature assured.

The birth control measure faces its last hurdle in the House, where its sponsor, Rep. Barbara-Rose Collins, D-Detroit, predicted no problem in attracting enough votes. The bill cleared the chamber easily last summer.

The bill removes Michigan's ban on discussion of birth control in sex education classes, but contains extensive provisions to mute the emotional opposition that has blocked its passage year after year.

Among other things, the bill does not make such education mandatory, permits parents to remove their children from such classes, forbids discussion of abortion and sets up local advisory boards to give parents a chance to review and recommend methods and materials.

Sponsors argue that the bill is long overdue, and sexually active young people need information about birth control to help prevent unwanted pregnancies and abortions.

The unemployment compensation bill, which is up for a final vote in the Senate, attracted its own share of controversy when Republicans in both chambers tried to attach amendments outlawing benefits for workers who quit their jobs.

In both cases, majority Democrats repulsed the effort, arguing the bill cannot be tied up on such an issue because it must be enacted by Nov. 10.

Unless the state revamps the financing of unemployment compensation by then, the federal government is slated to begin hiking taxes on Michigan employers to start paying off a $824 million debt.

The state borrowed the money to pay unemployment benefits when the jobless rate soared during the recent recession. And unless the state takes steps to repay the money, Washington will begin removing tax credits to set it back.

The bill would boost unemployment taxes for most employers, although it would impose less of a burden on those with few layoffs and stable work forces. It is designed to put the state fund back on its feet, meet future demands for benefits and begin paying off the federal debt. In other activity, a House-Senate conference committee is slated to begin meeting on a bill to ease business taxes on small and low income firms. The measure passed the two chambers in different forms, and the six conferees, three from each house, must decide how much of a tax break to grant and how to recoup the lost revenue.

The revision in the state's single business tax, which has attracted heated criticism from small enterprises, is a key priority for both Milliken and the Democratic leadership.

Governor To Sign Ban On 'Redlining'

By ROB WILSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A measure designed to pump new life into dying urban areas by outlawing discriminatory "redlining" is scheduled to be signed by Gov. William Milliken today in a ceremony in the House chambers.

The House overwhelmingly approved the legislation last week. It had cleared the Senate earlier on a unanimous vote.

The bill is the product of months of work by a statewide task force and various citizens groups. Hailed by the governor "as a model for the rest of the country," the law will take effect next July.

The signing will be attended by members of the task force, the bill's joint sponsors, Rep. William Bryant, R-Grand Rapids, and Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing and others connected with the measure's passage.

Redlining is the practice of denying mortgages, or offering less favorable terms, in certain neighborhoods because of their racial makeup or age of the homes.

The measure's goal is to combat the deterioration of older, urban neighborhoods by ensuring that loans are more readily available for home buyers and those who want to fix up their homes.

It would prohibit redlining on the basis of racial or ethnic characteristics, and specifies that the age of a building cannot be used as a reason for denying a loan.

It also imposes stiff requirements on banks and other lending institutions to divide in what neighborhoods loans are made, the number of loans granted and their amount.

The lenders must disclose the average down payment and the terms of the loans, the number of applications denied and the reasons for denial. The number and dollar amounts of mortgage loans processed also have to be made available.

In addition, mortgages as small as $5,000 must be provided. Currently, some lenders refuse to grant mortgages for less than $10,000 — an effective way to limit funds in poorer and older areas.

Those continuing to redline could be slapped with a maximum $10,000 fine under the bill, and anyone who is redlined could seek a court injunction blocking the action. Also, the state Financial Institutions Bureau could require mortgage review boards in cities becoming in 1979 to handle redlining complaints.

The bill was scrutinized under more than 100 hours of extensive work that included extensive deliberations with the banking and savings and loan lobbies and a citizens group, the Statewide Coalition on Redlining.

Bryant says the bill, in its final form, balances the concerns of citizen's groups and the needs of lending institutions. He adds the bill "is an important and exciting step toward the revitalization of our older neighborhoods."

Dystrophy Drive On In St. Joe

St. Joseph Fire Chief William Moore announced Firefighter Rod Wilder is the chairman for the department's 24th annual March for Muscular Dystrophy that will be held today through Saturday.

Wilder said he is recruiting volunteers to help in the house-to-house campaign throughout St. Joseph. The local effort is part of the nationwide drive to combat muscular dystrophy. Moore said the funds will be used to assist the 76 local patients who are served with a variety of orthopedic services and equipment.

The St. Joseph Fire Department is the headquarters for the five-county Southwest Michigan Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation. Moore said his department has raised over $80,000 for the foundation since the first drive in 1954.

Open Door Probe Holds Plane Back

The departure from Ross Field Airport of a North Central Airlines Conquest was delayed 36 minutes Saturday morning, while airport personnel investigated an open emergency door on the plane.

Benton Harbor police said the departure was delayed when a rear emergency door of the plane was discovered open. Police said the report was from North Central Freight Agent Willard Brown, who described the door as being opened from the outside. The door was about 10 feet above the ground.

Police reported it's not known how the door was opened, and no damage was found. It wasn't known if the plane was entered, police reported. The plane was parked at Ross Field overnight Friday and scheduled to depart at 7:40 a.m. Saturday. It departed 26 minutes late after the inspection was made.

Agent Brown called police at 9:32 a.m. Saturday, and reported that FBI Agent Dean Phelps was notified.

Money Orders Reported Taken

COLUMA — Three envelopes containing $190 in money orders were reported stolen from a roadside mailbox here over the weekend, Columa Township police said.

Police said Donna Wolf, 6882 Brent Road, told them she found the envelopes gone Saturday morning before mail pickup. She said she had placed the envelopes in the mailbox Friday night, police reported.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market

Advances Broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced broadly today, following through on last Friday's rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 3.12 to 813.06 in the first half hour.

Gainers took a 5-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted encouragement over the market's rebound last week after it attracted support at the Dow-800 level.

They also cited hopes that the light money worries that gripped Wall Street early last week would prove to have been excessive.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 7.27 to 809.94.

Big Board volume rose to 31.70 million shares from 18.09 million in the previous session.

Overall, there were more than three times as many gainers as losers on the NYSE.

The Big Board's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks closed up .47 at 50.27.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained 1.10 to 112.88.

It's Now

Official; Trip's Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced today that President Carter has decided to postpone his foreign tour set for later this month because he wants to remain in Washington while Congress considers his energy program.

The announcement confirmed earlier reports that Carter was going to scrap the tour of nine nations.

The announcement by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance said the governments of the nine nations had been informed of Carter's decision over the weekend.

Chrysler Declares Dividend

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has declared a dividend of 25 cents per share on common stock payable Dec. 10 to shareholders of record Nov. 15.

Last week, the nation's third largest automaker reported net earnings for the third quarter of $30.4 million or 51 cents a share, down from $31.2 million or $1.01 a share a year earlier. Sales during the quarter hit a record $4 billion.

The company has paid the 25-cent dividend in three previous quarters. Prior to that, it paid 15-cent dividends for two quarters. No dividend was paid for all of 1975 and the first two quarters of 1976.

Thieves Get Beer, Two Televisions

COLOMA — Two break-ins were reported to Coloma Township police Sunday.

Police said eight six-packs and two 12-packs of beer were reported taken from Collin's Corner Store, 7105 Lake Road. Also reported taken was an undetermined amount of cash. Police said entry was gained by forcing open a door.

Two televisions and a German, 400-day clock were reported taken from the Josephine Viscuso residence, 6538 Beech Road, according to police. Police said entry was gained by breaking a side window.

Eau Claire Man Booked On Theft Charge

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Bartolo Salazar, 22, Eau Claire, was arrested by Berrien Springs-Oronoka Township police after a Berrien man reported the theft of $92 in goods from his truck here early Sunday, police said.

Salazar was booked at the Berrien County Jail on a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle, police reported.

Cecil Baker, Route 1, Glendora Road, Buchanan, told police he discovered the items missing about 1:45 a.m. The items included a lunch box, thermos, clothing and toilet articles, he told police. Police said the arrest came after Baker told them he spotted the items in the back seat of a car parked nearby.

Study: Joblessness May Cost Trillions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment in the United States will cost the economy trillions of dollars in output and potential tax revenues by the end of this century unless joblessness is sharply reduced, according to a new study.

The study, released Sunday by the Exploratory Project for Economic Alternatives, was highly critical of the nation's recent leaders for allegedly trying to explain high unemployment, rather than taking steps to reduce it.

"Our national debate today is focused on the sad question of how high an unemployment rate we must accept, rather than on how low a rate we could achieve were we to make it our priority," said the study.

The nation's jobless rate was 7 percent in October, virtually unchanged from April. The report said that not too many years ago a 2 percent rate was considered realistic.

In an attempt to assess the cost of high unemployment, the study said the nation could lose $6 trillion in potential economic output and $1.3 trillion in federal taxes in the next 25 years if the jobless rate averages 5.5 percent, instead of a hypothetical 2 percent.

That has been the average unemployment rate for most of the post-war period, the study said. If joblessness were to average 6.5 percent, the report added, the cost could be $7 trillion in the nation's potential gross national product and $1.5 trillion in taxes.

The study said that if the United States had succeeded in lowering unemployment in the levels achieved by most European nations in the past 20 years, output would have increased $3.6 trillion, with an additional $750 billion in tax money.

In a statement released with the study, the project directors, Gar Alperovitz and Jeff Fox, said the nation is now on a course that will bring lower growth rates, chronic inflation and unemployment, international economic rivalry and shortages.

Kroger meats are

EXPERTLY PACKAGED-NEATLY DISPLAYED

Our thoroughly trained meat professionals package meats neatly, hand wrap them carefully and arrange packages in cases in organized fashion so that it is easy to find the cut, size and price you're looking for. Care is taken to see that packages and cases are clean so that your hands and clothes will not be soiled when shopping.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

We guarantee that we will do everything in our power to have ample supplies of all advertised specials on our shelves when you shop for them. If, due to conditions beyond our control, we run out of an advertised special, we will substitute the same item in a comparable brand (when such an item is available) reflecting the same savings or, if you prefer, give you a "RAIN CHECK" which entitles you to the same advertised special at the same price any time within 30 days.

PORK LOINS SMOKED HAMS CANNED HAMS

Some stores charge extra when you get your pork loin, canned or smoked ham cut into slices. Not so at Kroger -- we're happy to provide this extra service at no extra cost to you.

One More Reason Why KROGER MEANS BETTER MEAT

same low price per pound

Do you prefer hamburger that's freshly ground and wrapped right in the store? Or ground and sealed under closely -- controlled conditions in our meat plant? Take your choice -- at Kroger the price is the same.

one more reason why KROGER MEANS BETTER MEAT

Mixed Pork Chops? At Kroger It's CENTER CUT 2 to 1

Many stores offer packages of "mixed" pork chops in which half or more are end cuts.

But when you buy a package of "Mixed" or "Assorted" pork chops at Kroger, you can count on getting at least TWO of leaner, meatier pork loin center cuts for each end cut.
